EVERYMAN'S PSYCHOLOGY

WINE OR BUTTERMILK?

(BY FATHER G. BYRNE, S.J.)

Any ordinary mother would be vexed with a child who, sent to buy butter-milk, returned with port wine. Indeed even a father might not be won over by the fairest of daughters though she assured him, on expert authority, that the dairy-maids churned the nicest of wines. Yet the child could find able advocates at the bar of the Royal College of Surgeons, even though the learned doctors continued to believe in tawney port. Sir Wilfred Grenfell tells us that "we really smell many things which we say we taste. If you hold your nose tight you can scarcely taste at all, especially if your eyes are bad or you are in the dark. A big wine merchant bet the men who tasted the wine for buyers that they could not tell wines in the dark. He put glasses of port wine and glasses of buttermilk between them in a dark room. They carried out the wines they liked best; several were carrying buttermilk!"

If the reader is sceptical about the possibility of such a blunder, let him try the effect of compressing the nostrils while eating: he will find himself unable to distinguish between the taste of a piece of onion and a piece of apple. In some of these chats we have been trying to show that as the Holy Scripture puts it "man is fearfully and wonderfully made." Last week we examined a piece of work produced in the workshop of the soul, an apparently simple bit of work, which we all call sensation. "Look, see!" as the coolie might say to me. What is simpler? It is related that an old lady who once found herself next to Edison, at a dinner party, though that electricity would be serviceable table sauce. She remarked that electricity was a great discovery and a useful one. The great man was surely at one with her. But, when she added, that it was so simple, so easy to understand, as you had merely to press a button and it came . . . well, if the remainder of the conversation turned on apple-dumplings we might sympathise with the inventor!

"Look See."

For the most part we are close partners of the old lady. "Look, see!" You just switch on a light, or the sun does it for you, and your mind is full of all kinds of pictures; they just came in through the eyes: it is so simple! From childhood we have been familiar with five senses, and each of them has its proper organ—eye, ear, mouth, nose, and, well all the skin is sensitive to touch. Of course we don't mix them up; we should never dream of saying that we had eaten a rose when we had only smelled it. Unfortunately the case is not so simple. In spite of the varied menu cards of restaurant appeal, and the endless lists of wines, if we eliminated the work of the nose from the work of the palate the chef would have an easy job in the kitchen, and many of the wine-merchants' boasts might be left to the milkmaid.

Taste—and Smell.

We have just mentioned that, by suppressing smell, you might have onions instead of apples without noticing a difference. It is easy to show that individual taste impressions may be determined by warmth and cold, yet the warmth and the cold are not themselves recognized as parts of the taste sensation. We talk of some tastes as pungent: we recognize stinging, or pricking feelings in them. It has not, probably, occurred to us that, as we experience stinging or pricking sensations for instance if a nettle touch our hands, these particular qualities may not be due to taste at all, but annexed from some other source, and so it would follow that if we could close up the other source as we compressed our nostrils ginger might cease to be gingery! The fact is that psychologists, when they have worked upon taste in a way that would be the despair of any respectable cook, calmly turn round and say to us: "you epicures of the palate, you are an ignorant tribe; your organs of taste can discriminate but four qualities: sweet, sour, salty, and bitter."

The Taste Machines.

"The taste-machines are like bunches of cells, hidden under the surface, with little holes running down to each. Into these some of the food enters and as each cell is specially connected direct with central, taste pictures are at once added to those already in the record bureau," writes Sir W. Grenfell in his very readable little book Yourself and Your Body.

"In an adult the organs are on the tongue, the soft palate, the back of the soft palate, and the throat. Other parts of a child's mouth seem also to be affected. The four taste qualities do not shade off gradually into others like the colours; and they are not connected with one another. Sour and salty tastes are perceived especially on the sides and the tip of the tongue."

(Note:—We referred before to Sir John Adam's Everyman's Psychology: those interested in the points of which we have been treating in the last few chats will find ch. VI. of the book helpful. The book is procurable in Hong Kong. Yourself and Your Body by Sir W. Grenfell ought to have a place on the bookshelf of every house that can boast of one.)

BLASTING OPERATIONS AT KUNGLING

The photograph shows the elaborate system of rafts and hulks used by the engineers and their staff.

By order of the Navy Ministry, the Kiangnan Dockyard has started constructing two new gunboats, to be named Weining and Suning for river patrol. The two boats will be of a similar type to the four others constructed by the dock during the last two years. They will be 300 tons each and have a speed of twelve knots an hour.

JAPANESE CROSS LUAN RIVER

PLANES BOMB MIYUN

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

PEIPING, May 10.

JAPANESE forces crossed the Luan River, north of Luanchow, according to reliable reports and heavy fighting occurred near Anshan Point. Where the river was crossed is not stated, but it is presumed in the area occupied by the Japanese in their previous advance.

The reports add that the Japanese now occupy Funing, Changli, Lulung and Chienan.

Trains are not running beyond Luanchow.

Japanese planes this morning visited Miyun and dropped several bombs, they later scouted near Hsifengkou.

KOREAN DANCER'S FEET INSURED

SEOUL, May 4.

The Osaka Marine and Fire Insurance Company has underwritten an insurance on the feet of Mr. Ri Kosei, a Korean, who is one of the foremost stage-dancers in Japan, to the amount of Y. 20,000.

Mr. Ri is a graduate of the Agricultural College of the Tokyo Imperial University and has been in an artistic career in teaching stage-dancing. He expects to go abroad for the further study of his art.

It is noteworthy that this is the first occasion in the Far East that human foot has been accepted as an object of insurance.

OUR LONDON AIR-MAIL LETTER

Mr. L. Binyon and Sir P. Sassoon Honoured: Broadcast Talks on Slavery: Mark Hambourg's Recovery: London-Paris Air Mail Improvements: The All-India Polo Team: Duchess of York, Visits York: London's Joy Week

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, April 25.

MR. LAURENCE BINYON

The President and Fellows of Trinity College, Oxford, have elected to an Honorary Fellowship Mr. Laurence Binyon, C.H., Keeper of Oxford Prints and Drawings in the British Museum. Mr. Binyon was a Scholar of the College from 1888 to 1892.

SIR PHILIP SASSOON

Hythe (Kent) Town Council has decided to confer the freedom of the borough upon Sir Philip Sassoon, the Under Secretary for Air, in recognition of his services as member of Parliament for the division f · an unbroken period of 21 ears.

The last freedom conferred by Hythe was upon Lord Wakefield in 1930.

MODEL 'PLANE FOR KING'S GRANDSONS

When the Princess Royal visited Southampton to open a new dockland settlement she was presented with a model aeroplane made by dockland Scouts to give to her sons.

One hundred mothers of young men and women members of the settlement gave the Princess a rousing welcome when she reached the beflagged premises, and three hundred Gird Guides and Brownies gave a "grand howl" in her honour.

SLAVERY PAST AND PRESENT

A set of nine weekly talks on slavery begins this evening. Four are to be historical, surveying the growth of the slave trade, the campaigns which brought about, first, its abolition and, a quarter of a century later, the emancipation of slaves in the British colonies. These will be given by Sir John Harris, rofessor C. K. Webster, of the London School of Economics, and Professor R. Coupland, of Oxford. From the fifth talk onwards the prevalence of slavery and the campaign for its abolition, including the work being done by the League of Nations, will be dealt with. It is to the latter section of the talks that Lady Simon and Lord Cecil will contribute.

MARK HAMBOURG PLAYS AGAIN

Yesterday Mr. Mark Hambourg touched a piano for the first time for over two months.

He will not be able to leave his house for some weeks yet, for he is only just convalescent after his almost fatal illness. But, although thin and pale, he was abundantly cheerful.

"I am so glad," he said, "that my fingers have not grown stiff with the long rest, for a pianist should practise for hours every day. And I shall be still more glad when I am allowed to smoke cigars again and to read the books I like. I have at present to be content with the mildest of cigarettes and the lightest of literature."

BUSINESS MEN'S AIR JOURNEYS

There has been some talk of an innovation in air passenger transport specially designed for business men. In the past those who travel frequently to the Continent by air have found that, owing to time-table arrangements, such journeys have had to be made in time "stolen" from business hours. Night trips, of course, are always available and are sometimes inevitable, but hours of travel by night are not the best preparation for a hard day's work.

Now, to facilitate urgent business trips to Paris, Imperial Airways have introduced a service which leaves the London air-station each evening at 6.45 and arrives at Le Bourget at 9, dinner being served on board during the flight. An afternoon service for those who wish to reach Paris earlier in the evening has also been inaugurated, leaving Croydon at 3.30 and leading at 5.45. There are corresponding services from Paris to London.

LORD LONDONDERRY

Lord Londdnderry is to address the Royal Central Asian Society on May 10, the subject being Air Power in the Middle East. Lord Lloyd will be in the chair.

The Central Asian Society was given its Royal style last year, and is a most vigorous body.

At its monthly political dinners—to which only the élite among the society's members are admitted—experts from all the King's Asiatic dominions learnedly debate and disagree upon questions of the hour.

MAHARAJA OF JAIPUR

The past few days have been the arrival in England of the Maharaja of Paipur with his polo team, accompanied by forty ponies and an equal number of grooms.

At the age of 21 his Highness has acquired a polo handicap of 8. Though in Jaipur he must keep up all the traditional pomp of State, in England he dispenses with such paraphernalia.

His All-Indian team, which for three successive years have been champions of India, are to play against all the important English sides during the summer.

LONDON PARTY IN PEKIN PALACE

Political and social hostesses are taking part in a strange Mayfair house-warming next Wednesday—the first Western party to take place in a Pekin Palace interior that is one thousand years old.

The party is being held in Mrs. van der Elst's Chinese room at her new house, Addison Lodge, Addison-road, for which part of an ancient Chinese palace was transported to London. Those invited include: Lady Eyres-Monsell, wife of the First Lord of the Admiralty, Lady Brecknock, Lady Lloyd of Dolobran, and Lady Florence Boyle.

Peeresses will sit in mandarins' chairs over a thousand years old. Round them will be the carved walls of the Eastern palace, inset with painted panels.

Orange and Almond Blossom.

The hostess is decorating the om with orange and almond blossom.

Her guests will be invited to help her solve the mystery of the room. "One cannot account for its peculiar atmosphere," she said. "When you enter there is a sense of rest and calm that I have never experienced in any other room. I often wonder if it was used for opium.

"The first thing you feel is the age of it, then you are aware of a strange perfume, and then of a curious soothing influence."

Guests can try to decide where the peculiar Oriental odour comes from. "I have never understood it; it does not originate from the wood," Mrs. van der Elst added.

Cocktails will be the modern drink served at this Chinese party at the conclusion of the committee meeting for the Dreadnought Ball on May 23.

THE DUCHESS OF YORK

The Duchess of York, as Colonel-in-Chief of the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, visited York to unveil two restored lancet windows in the regiment's memorial chapel in York Minster. Crowds of citizens waited more than an hour in snow showers to see the Duchess. She was received at the Minster by the Dean (the Very Rev. H. N. Bate) and Major General C. P. Deedes, colonel of the regiment. The Duchess was escorted to the K.O.Y.L.I. chapel by the band of the First Battalion from Tidworth.

The windows which the Duchess unveiled adjoin the famous Sisters Window, which she unveiled a few years ago as a memorial to the war sacrifices of the women of the British Empire. To one of the restored windows have been added two new medallions containing the arms of the Duchess of York and of her regiment.

The Duchess, who was wearing a powder-blue full-length coat and knitted woolly cap to match, was accompanied by Lady Helen Granton. Before leaving the Minster the Duchess signed her name in the distinguished visitors' book and shook hands with the Dean and the Canons of York Minster.

The Duchess subsequently visited the depot barracks at Pontefract, where she took the salute from a plain-clothes parade of the Old Comrades' Association. The Duchess also visited Ripon Social Service Centre and talked with the unemployed. She showed great interest in the workshops, where basket-making, cobbling, and joinering were in progress. She made several purchases. The Duchess was received by the Mayor and Mayoress of Ripon (Mr. and Mrs. Thorpe) and officials of the Centre were presented to her.

LONDON "JOY WEEK"

Fancy dress processions in the Strand, illuminated processions at night, fairs in Hyde Park, and flights by scores of airplanes—these are some of the plans that are being discussed for London's "Joy Week," May 27 to June 3.

At a meeting of the organisers Colonel the Master of Sempill said the idea was to make a start with such a week this year. There was no reason why it should not be bigger and more perfect in future years. Fortuitously London had become the gayest city in the world, and this was the best way to demonstrate this fact.

Mr. Bertram W. Mills said he believed that Lady Brentford was one of the originators of the idea of a London Joy Week. In this way they could let Europe and America know that, however, pessimistic the rest of the world was, London was making good.

Details were discussed of floodlighting public buildings, a carnival procession at night on the Thames, a fancy dress procession down the Strand, and innumerable air trips.

It was proposed that, if possible, an address should be presented to the King in Hyde Park similar to that presented to Queen Victoria on the Jubilee of her reign.

In the week May 27 to June 3

"THE NOBILITY OF WAR"

Budapest.

The famous French film "Wooden Crosses," which gives a realistic presentation of modern warfare in all its horrors, has been banned in Hungary.

The authorities explain that the film fails "to depict the nobility of war."

the Royal Tournament is in progress at Olympia, the Derby is run, and the week concludes with Trooping the Colour for the King's birthday—so that half the entertainment for London's Joy Week is already organised.

The organisers are having the co-operation of the theatres, the big stores, Scotland Yard and many other bodies in the London district.

Tartare Sauce

Beefsteak and Bacon Pudding
Fried Egg Plant
Currant Waffles
Honey Sauce

DINNER.

Chicken Broth
Fried Whitebait
Lemon Slices
Cold Ham
Suffolk Peas
Cold Pineapple Pudding

Soused Mackerel.

3 Mackerels, ½ pint of vinegar, ½ pint of water, 1 oz. peppercorns. A little cayenne and salt to taste. Boil the vinegar and other ingredients for one hour and let it get cold. Steam mackerel until cooked, put them into a pie dish and pour the vinegar, etc., over them. Cover closely and let them steep for twelve hours. Place them on a dish and serve with Tartare Sauce.

Cold Pineapple Pudding.

1 oz. gelatine, 1 tin pineapple, ½ pint whipping cream, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 tablespoon brandy. Soak the gelatine in cold water for a few minutes. Chop the pineapple finely. Whip the cream to a stiff froth and mix with it, and add the brandy and sugar. Dissolve the gelatine in a double boiler and mix thoroughly with the pineapple, etc. Pour into a wetted mould. When firm, turn out and pour a cold boiled custard round it.

Suffolk Peas.

1 pkt. dried peas (green), 2 oz. bacon, 1 tablespoon chopped pimento, pepper, salt. Cook the peas according to the directions on the packet and when they are cooked drain them. Cook the chopped bacon, stir in the chopped pimento and then lightly toss the peas in the mixture. If liked, add a lump of butter as well. Season the peas with salt and pepper and serve them.

SOLVING SPACE PROBLEM

A large comfortable day bed, that can be converted into twin beds at night solves the sleeping problem for those who do not like double beds but haven't room enough in living room-bed room combination for two separate couches that have bedroom possibilities. The beds are quite distinctive, but when they are pushed together and covered with a large heavy cover and piled with gay cushions no one knows that a double life is going on.

BETTY'S BEAUTY HINTS

Enlarged Pores.—Powder the affected parts with sulphur daily for a week.

Shiny Nose.—Boracic acid—1 Tinchin, Rosewater—4 oz, Simple Tincture of Benzoin—25 drops, make up this mixture, adding the benzoin drop by drop, after the boracic in the rosewater, and apply to the nose with cotton wool three times a day for one week.

Freckles.—Large freckles may be removed by moistening a finger in warm water, dipping it in powdered saltpetre, and rubbing the freckle lightly. To remove a crop of small freckles, apply a lotion made of equal parts of lemon juice, peroxide and water, having previously massaged the face with cold cream.

Blackheads.—Apply the following lotion after washing

Acid boric 4 drachms
Calaminae 3 drachms
Zinc oxidii 2 drachms
Aqua ad. 6 oz.

Tired Eyes.—Bath regularly with equal parts of wych hazel and water.

STIMULATING APPETIZER

For dinner on cool evenings nothing is more appetizing as a beginner than scorching hot clam broth. Canned broth is excellent when served with a dash of lemon juice in it and a slice of lemon floating in it. Cut your slice of lemon in a fancy shape and have it paper thin. Serve Melba toast with it.

MAKING CHILDREN EAT

Children who do not like bread and butter will be much more likely to eat it if the bread is cut into animal shapes. A cookie cutter will perform this trick. Sometimes it helps to make a game of eating, by having a cat and a dog and a mouse, waiting on the child's bread and butter plate, and weaving an imaginary tale as to the manner in which the mouse disappeared, after the cat devoured the dog. Such special attention requires time, but it is wiser to coax a child to eat by amusing him rather than forcing him to eat by scolding him.

BETTER POTATO SALAD

Potato salad, which has almost exhausted its popularity at summer picnics, will stage a comeback if you combine it with enough crisp carrots to make it attractive.

HERE'S A NEW GREEN

Chinese cabbage, procurable at many markets, gives an exotic and appealing zest to a tomato and cottage salad. Shred the Chinese cabbage and use it instead of lettuce.

TO RAISE A SMILE

"What kind of a fellow is Charlie" "He's one of those fellows who always grab the stool when there's a piano to be moved."

Customer: Good morning! Have you Dickens' "Cricket on the Hearth?" Shopman: No. madam; but I can show you a very good ping-pong set.

First Student: Great Scott! I've forgotten who wrote "Ivanhoe." Second Student: I'll tell you if you tell me who the dickens wrote "A Tale of Two Cities."

"What is mind?"
"No matter."
"What is matter?"
"Never mind."

ULCERS IN MOUTH

They are generally due to a run-down condition of the body or an irritation in the mouth. If your teeth are all sound, then look to your diet. Take every day milk, eggs, butter, fruit, salads, and a little cod liver oil. Clean the mouth after every meal. If they continue, then seek medical advice.

WASHABLE DOESKIN GLOVES

With the gloves on the hand, wash well with water and ordinary soap. If very soiled, change the water and resoap them as frequently as necessary. Do not finally rinse, as by the soap remaining the leather is softened. Wring the gloves in a clean towel and then blow into them to open them for quicker drying. Allow to dry naturally and avoid drying in the sun, as this sometimes causes them to dry patchy. Before wearing, wring once more in a dry towel to make them soft.

RUG CUSHIONS

New rug cushions, made to go under your scatter rugs or even a whole floor covering, give longer life to carpets and make walking on them a pleasure.

CHICKEN CUTLETS.

Any left-over legs of chicken may be used up and made into a tasty dish if prepared as follows: To keep a good shape, leave the bones in and place the legs in a saucepan with sufficient white stock to cover. Simmer gently until tender then remove from the liquid. Place the chicken between two dishes and put a weight on the top one, leave for half on hour, then trim off the edges and shape into cutlets. Season with pepper and salt, brush over with butter, dip into beaten egg and breadcrumbs, and fry in boiling fat until the cutlets are a golden brown on both sides. Fix a piece of macaroni in the end of each cutlet and decorate with a cutlet frill. Garnish with watercress, and serve with thick brown gravy.

FOR CAMP OR PICNIC

To avoid difficulty in scraping soot from the bottom of pans and kettles, used in cooking over an open wood fire, rub the bottoms with a wet cake of soap before setting them over the fire. Afterward a wet cloth will remove all soot instantly.

When cooking bacon for a large number of people, do not pull the slices apart, but tip the whole sliced mass at once into the frying pan and stir it as it quickly melts apart and becomes crisp. This is quicker than pulling the slices apart beforehand.

To broil frankfurters over an open fire, use a wire corn popper. Put the frankfurters in, fasten the lid, and hold the popper over the fire, shaking to turn them as they brown. They cook evenly, and there is no danger of their falling in the fire, as sometimes happens when sticks or long-handled forks are used.

Beefsteak may be broiled, buns heated, or toast made in the same way.

A short length of one-foot wide chicken wire provides an excellent means of broiling chops, steak, ham and the like. The two ends of the wire may be held by two members of the camping party, since broiling requires but a few minutes, or the wire may extend over two stones, one at each side of the narrow fire.

LAUNDRY HINTS

Clothes will stay white more easily when you launder them, if you will change the water often enough so you won't place any garment in soiled water. Make sure that your water is soft, that your soap suds are thick, and let the sunshine, instead of the indoor heat, perform the drying rite for you. Before rinsing the clothes, make sure that most of the soap suds are already out of the garments.

KEEPING SILVER BRIGHT

A pinch of salt placed in the water when you are washing silver will preserve the lustre of the silver. A piece of camphor has the same effect if placed in the silver drawer.

GOOD DESSERTS

Figs or persimmons make grand desserts when served with heavy cream. They are excellent as a finish to a meal that has not been very hearty.

BE READY FOR FIRE

Small fire extinguishers, easy to manipulate, and containing fluids that will not injure fabrics, should be kept in your home. If a blaze begins when an iron has become overheated, or a cleaning fluid hasn't been handled properly, the extinguisher will perform an instant service. Such an extinguisher has its place on every floor of the house.

COMFORTABLE CUSHIONS

If you put a bolster, covered with the material of your couch, along the wall before standing colored pillows up against the wall, this bolster makes them stand up well and makes leaning against them infinitely more comfortable.

BEAUTY HINTS

Yellow Teeth and Spongy Gum.—Brush with bicarbonate of soda moistened with lemon juice twice a week.

Nails.—When washing, rub well into with juice of lemon, this will remove stains and brighten surface.

Weak Eyes.—Bath the eyes in fresh milk that has the chill taken off, or diluted (weak) solution of borasic acid, with the chill just off, or weak tea.

For Clear Skin.—Lavol.

Hints For The House-Wife

For the warm summer evenings, when one does not feel like eating too much, the cold ham or any cold meat with the salad would seem sufficient should be prepared in the following way:

Baked Ham.

Soak a ham over night in water. In the morning place in a deep pan and cover with water and boil slowly for about four hours. Remove the ham and save the water as it gives a delicious flavour to greens or vegetables when used as the liquid to boil them in. Remove the rind from the ham and score in squares. Rub brown sugar into the fat and stick a clove into the center of each square. Bake in a moderate oven until brown, basting frequently with grape or pineapple juice.

Spinach Ring With Eggs.

Cook the spinach and drain. Chop very fine and blend with a thick white sauce. Place in a ring mold and heat by emersing the mold in a pan of water. Remove the spinach from the ring and decorate with slices of hard boiled egg.

Orange Flower Salad.

For each individual salad take seven or eight orange sections and remove the skin from each. Arrange on a bed of lettuce to simulate the petals of a flower. Garnish with tiny strips of maraschino cherry and fill the centre with mayonnaise dressing pressed rough a tube.

Frozen Fruit Delight.

Bring one-half cup water and one-eighth teaspoon of salt to boil; add two tablespoons of minute tapioca and cook in a double boiler until clear and thick. Add one-third cup sugar and one-fourth cup mint jelly. Continue cooking until the jelly is melted. Cool. Add the contents, both syrup and fruit, of an 8-ounce tin of crushed pineapple and the well-mashed contents of an 8-ounces tin of peaches, including the syrup and one-half teaspoon of almond flavouring. Freeze to a mush in refrigerator trays or in ice and salt. Stir occasionally. Fold in one cup of beaten cream and continue freezing. This recipe serves eight.

Baked Ham Slice.

Lay a slice of ham in a casserole, cover with a cup and a half of milk and sliced potatoes to the depth of about three inches. Bake until potatoes and ham are done. Remove ham and place in the centre of a large platter. Surround with the potatoes, fresh new peas, broiled mushrooms, lima beans and glazed carrots.

Egg Salad.

5 hard cooked eggs.
1 pimiento, shredded.
¼ cup shredded lettuce.
¼ cup chopped celery.
French dressing

Chop the eggs and toss together with the other ingredients and just sufficient French dressing to marinate. Let stand an hour and serve with mayonnaise or thousand island dressing.

Bisque Torteni.

3 eggs.
½ cup sugar.
¼ cup water.
1 pint cream.
12 almond maccaroons.
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Heat macaroons enough to crisp. When cool roll fine. Whip cream very stiff. Boil sugar and water until it spins a thread. Pour over yolks while hot. Mix cream and whites of eggs, then put the two mixtures together and add macaroons. Flavour and pack in ice and salt or in electric refrigerator for 3 to 4 hours.

A HANDY APRON

Whether it is only lingerie you are hanging out or the whole wash, a clothespin apron is a big help. Wear the same apron, minus the clothespins or another one like it, when you are cleaning up the house. The pocket is handy for carrying all kinds of things from room to room or to the waste-basket.

KEEP FIT OR BE FINED

COMPULSORY PHYSICAL TRAINING.

BELGRADE.

King Alexander has signed a new Act providing for the compulsory physical training of young men and women in Yugoslavia.

All Yugoslav youths and girls must now attend regular courses of physical training until they reach 20 years of age. Students of State schools will be given their training in school, but in other cases special schools will be founded and pupils will also have to attend special holiday courses.

Any young person refusing to practise physical exercises and attend the classes will be fined £2 and ordered up to five days' imprisonment for the first offence. Parents who encourage children to avoid their legal obligations to keep fit will also be punishable.—Reuter.

TORRES' TEETH

Raquel Torres has the whitest teeth in Hollywood, so perhaps her formula has interest. After years of experiment Raquel found that nothing rivals the good old mixture of baking soda and salt to keep molars glistening. The beautiful Mexican has plenty of opportunity to display her teeth in Columbia's "Go This Is Africa!" in which she plays a female Tarzan.

THE MANCHURIAN MULE

REAL HERO OF THE JEHOL DRIVE

VIVID PICTURE OF JAPANESE ARMY'S ADVANCE

Set down the Chinese donkey, the Jehol mule and the Mongol pony as among the unsung heroes of this unofficial war in Manchuria, writes Frederick Whiteing of the United Press.

"For weeks now, following the Japanese Army along the rocky trails of Jehol, I have seen these plucky little beasts straining through sleet and snow, plodding through breath-taking dust storms, sleeping in slush and always going forward.

When the crack divisions of the Imperial Japanese Army were mobilized for the long heralded campaign in Jehol the transport service, borrowing a leaf from the very troops they were to fight, called for thousands of mules, ponies, donkeys and carts—and offered to pay the cart owners Yen 3.50 a day for their service. The muleteers could hardly believe the news. Three and a half yen a day is big money in northern Asia, and when—as the Japanese did—food for men and beast was offered in addition to wages the response from the carters was immediate.

Donkey Mobilization.

I heard the tales of the donkey mobilization, as one foreigner described it, when I arrived in Mukden from Tokyo after a hurried trip from the Japanese capital, but until I saw the vast lines of carts along the roads of Jehol I had no idea of what it really meant. There were donkeys of all ages and conditions of decrepitude, larger Jehol mules—some of them black and shining with little bells around their necks—and hundreds of shaggy little Mongol ponies looking unbelievably vicious as they bared yellow, fang-line teeth under the lashes of the carters. And all of them pulled unbelievable loads in great clumsy two-wheel carts which whined on wooden axles over the frozen trails.

The donkeys and their fellows, however, are only a small part of the net-work of transport used by the Japanese. Airplanes are used to transport dispatches, wounded soldiers, and stranded newspapermen, and on occasion even clothing and medical supplies while automobiles and motor-trucks—many of them of American make—are used by the hundreds.

Two-Wheeled Carts.

It is a strange war—the carts which have been used since the days of Kublai Kahn competing successfully with the newest and finest of transport 'planes, and 1933 model American made motor trucks.

I find in my diary:

"Trainloads of munitions, food, motor trucks, and supplies and material of all sorts are streaming out of Mukden for the Jehol front. Important among these are a vast number of Chinese two-wheeled carts, of which Manchuria has been drained, for the purpose of transporting army supplies in Jehol, which is without railroad facilities. This is with the exception of the line which proceeds north-west from Chinchow, on the Mukden-Peiping (now Mukden-Shanhaikwan) railroad and which penetrates Jehol for a short distance beyond the Fengtien-Jehol border going as far as Peipiao, where there is an important coal mine.

"I reached Chinchow which suddenly leaped into world-wide fame in the early stages of the Japan-China conflict over Manchuria, late February 27 after a spasmodic journey from Mukden by the Mukden-Peiping railway, the trains on which on only as far as Shanhaikwan.

"Chinchow is a grimy, straggling town, of stone and mud buildings, and a tawdry, unkempt appearance. There are sandbag barricades still around the station, and the entrance of which is closed, people using the trains going around the ends of the platforms to get in.

"I stayed at an inn conducted by Japanese who had established themselves in a Chinese building, with its inevitable, 'ken', or stove-beds, and who provided some food according to the Japanese cuisine but of poor quality.

"By day the main street presented an animated appearance, with innumerable rickshas, miserable Chinese pony carriages, tiny donkeys carry Chinese men ludicruously dashing Japanese army motor cars and motor-cycles, carts carrying provisions and other materials for the army, all intermixed with pedestrians both Japanese and Chinese, amid swirls of penetrating, foul dust.

"Cafés"—of a Sort.

"Since the Japanese occupation, a number of so-called cafes have been opened—one called 'Paradaisu' (Paradise)—and one sees a good many Japanese and Korean women, evidently of more or less easy virtue, peering out of the cafe doors or riding in carriage or rickshas.

"One little store and restaurant combined, where one can get good bread and Harbin butter with a tough beefstick, and tobacco and some provisions, run by a Russian ex-policeman and his wife, is like an oasis in a desert of dust. He has some good coffee, too.

"I received permission from the Japanese military authorities in Mukden to start February 26, for the Jehol front via this city. The train ride was an interesting one, though punctuated by long halts at various points, including Hsinmin, Koupangtzu and Talingho, made famous during the Japanese army's conflict with the Manchurian bandits and guerillas.

Troop Train.

"The first-class coach, and the other second and third class cars making up the train were packed with Japanese troops and some Japanese and Chinese civilians, a company of the troops also filling the dining car, from which, however, I managed to obtain some food.

"Throughout the long journey one could see on every hand indications of the state of unrest that had prevailed in the region. Well-armed Manchukuo police guarded all the stations, often in company with Japanese soldiers and gendarmes.

"The stations have sandbag barricades and barbed-wire fences are seen here and there. The stone walls at many of the stations, and larger buildings and farm-houses along the route, have round emplacements at the corners, pierced for rifles or machine-guns. Now and then one sees a building destroyed by shell-fire.

"Peaceful conditions seem to prevail now, however, and the population apparently is going about its business at will. Troops alighted from my train at various points, until at last the dining-car was vacated.

A Bit of "Homeland."

"The Japanese army here occupies the buildings of what once was a school. I was entertained at a typical Japanese farewell dinner complete with 'saki' liquor and geisha singing and dancing. This was in a well-appointed Japanese restaurant, one of a group which I was astonised to find had been built, by themselves, in a section of the city—a little bit of homeland for the Japanese officers and better-off Japanese residents."

"Apart from the motor truck corps, which is responsible for the rapidity of the Japanese army's dash through Jehol, an exceedingly important feature of the transport service is the tens of thousands of Chinese two-wheeled carts brought in from Manchuria.

"The army is depending very largely on these carts to bring up its food, material and equipment of various sorts from the rear, the base for the 8th Division which I am accompanying being at Peipiao to which point there is a short railroad from Chinchow.

"These carts have a capacity of about a quarter of a ton, and are loaded with bags of rice, wheat, bags of shoyu (sauce made from beans), miso (from which soup is made), cooking utensils and equipment, and miscellaneous provisions, with not infrequently a Japanese soldier sitting on top of the whole thing, his rifle across his knees and his steel helmet hanging into some knob or other projecting part of the cart or its loads.

"Coming with the motor transport corps, I have passed on the way from Peipiao a seemingly never-ending stream of these carts, divided into sections of 75 or 100 carts, each with its guards of Japanese infantry, on their way to supply the army of occupation with its rations.

"The drivers, dirty but warmly-clad—many with fur caps—and apparently well-fed, sturdy-looking citizens, sit on the shafts or walk along side, flicking their long whip-lashes at the animals' heads, which results in many of latter being blind, as the drivers seem to aim at their eyes.

A Queer Assortment.

"The animals are a queer assortment, being mostly mules and donkeys, with some horses. A typical arrangement is for a mule to be in the shafts, with another mule in front pulling by ropes leading back to the cart, and a donkey on the right side of the shaft mule, pulling by a single rope. The food is often in a basket at the end of the cart immediately ahead, which is an inducement for many an occasional nibble en route. Most have bald patches on their sides caused by the rubbing of shafts and ropes, and an occasional animal looks decrepit, but these latter cases are rare.

"In great contrast to the vicious tendencies of the famous American army mule, the Manchurian mule is well-mannered and docile. Among the many thousands I have seen, I did not notice a single one being unmanageable, and nobody was getting kicked. Now and then a cart overturns, upon which the mule in the shafts lies quietly on his side until the driver with the assistance of others put it on its wheels again."

BANK HOLIDAY

CATCHES STARS WITHOUT CASH

Hollywood's screen stars were forced to use gum wrappers, cigar coupons, street car transfers and pages out of their pocket note books in lieu of cash during California's three-day bank holiday.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce related an embarrassment. She called a taxi to take her to the studio. Without a cent in her pocket, she asked the driver to stop at her bank on the way. The notice of the holiday met her at the door, and she was faced with the immediate problem of paying an enormous taxi bill the next morning.

"FACE IN THE SKY"

AMERICAN STORY: EUROPEAN TREATMENT

"While film critics make much of the contrast between American and European screen difference," says Harry Lachman, director of "Face in the Sky," the Fox film coming now showing at the King's Theatre.

"American practice depends more on the use of tense, well-written dialogue to tell the story, relegating the camera to a less important role, while in Europe the picture-makers emphasize the camera as the principal narrator. In other words, the American method is based on that of the stage to a great extent, while abroad they follow the technique of the silent picture.

"This difference, however, is not as vital as the critics make it out to be. After all, the story is the principal thing, and if it is well told, the exact method used in the telling is a minor matter."

An American art student who gained unusual honours in France as a painter before he turned his attention to the screen and directed many films in France and England, Lachman is well qualified as an authority on European film subjects.

In "Face in the Sky," his first production in this country, the director combines a purely American story theme with the so-called European treatment of presenting the narrative largely by means of the camera. This combination is enhanced by the photography of Lee Garmes, recent winner of the Academy Award for camera work.

Spencer Tracy, Marian Nixon and Stuart Erwin have the leading roles in the production, a whimsical romance of a traveling sin-board artist and a country girl. Myles Connolly wrote the original story, with Humphrey Pearson turning out the screen play and William Collier, Sr. handling the dialogue direction. Sarah Padden and Sam Hardy head the supporting cast.

SCREEN LOVE FOR GRETA GARBO

JAPANESE STUDENT'S SUICIDE

Tokyo.—A note-book in which was carefully written down the life story of Greta Garbo, the famous Swedish movie star, was found on the body of Masahiki Nakano, a 19-year-old student, who leapt to his death from the sixth floor of the Osaka Kabukiza.

Nakano graduated from Imamiya Middle School this year, but failed in the entrance examination to the Kochi-Higher School, and the Tokyo Jikeien Medical College. This depressed him, it is said.

Inordinately fond of moving pictures, Nakano is said to have been "in love" with Greta Garbo.

In a letter, which he left behind, he wrote, "No fears accompany me to the land of death. I shall tour on the spring winds."

"PAYMENT DEFERRED"

STRONG DRAMA FOR QUEEN'S THEATRE

"Payment Deferred," the film version of one of London and New York's outstanding stage hits, now being shown at the Queen's Theatre till Saturday. Known as the mystery drama with the most startling climax ever devised, "Payment Deferred" tells the story of a murderer who escapes detection for his own crime only to be convicted later for a crime when he did not commit.

The significant feature of the play, both in its London and New York productions, was the sensational performance of Charles Laughton as the middle-class London bank clerk who is driven to murder his rich nephew to save himself and his family from a debtor's prison. It is this same Charles Laughton who enacts the murderer in the film version.

Called English "Jannings."

Laughton, whose distinguished work on the English stage has won him the title of the English "Emil Jannings," makes his second appearance on the American screen in "Payment Deferred," his first having been as Tallulah Bankhead's jealous husband in "Devil and the Deep."

The difficult role of the murderer's wife is handled by Dorothy Peterson, who will be remembered for her excellent work opposite Walter Huston in "Beast of the City" Verree Teasdale, who recently scored in "Skyscraper Souls," has the part of a blackmailing French milliner, and the role of the murdered nephew is played by Ray Milland. The cast also includes Billy Bevan, Halliwell Hobbs and William Stack.

Among the picture's dramatic highlights are the scene in which the bank clerk poisons his nephew; the tense moment when his wife discovers his secret; his constant terror lest the body of his victim, buried in the garden, be discovered; the suicide of his wife, and the bitterly ironic episode in which the authorities seize the bank clerk for a murder of which he is innocent but which he cannot explain without confessing his real crime.

The screen adaptation of "Payment Deferred" was written by Ernest Vajda, and Claudine West. The picture was directed by Lothar Mendes.

"HOT PEPPER"

MUSIC AND DANCING IN CABARET FILM

Motion picture devotes who are demanding the return of screen musicals will find enough music and dancing in the Fox comedy, "Hot Pepper," to meet their desires. It is the coming attraction at the King's Theatre. This picture depicts the latest adventures of the immortal Quirt and Flagg, the fighting and loving Marines portrayed by Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen.

Though they are no longer in uniform, they are still the devil dogs created by Laurence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson. The 1933 Flagg and Quirt are night club owners, and they dress in regal style.

The night clubs are the play grounds of beautiful women and tailor-made men, and entertainment in one of them is furnished by the flaming meteor, Lupe Velez, and a chorus of singing and dancing beauties.

Miss Velez sings a new song, "Ain't Going to Ring No More," and appears in a dance that is said to be sensational. The music for "Hot Pepper" was written by Val Burton and Will Jason, well-known composers.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

Charlie Chaplin fans will be glad to see him again in a comedy which is to be shown at the Central Theatre on Thursday, the 11th.

Another favourite, Mitzi Green, the juvenile star, appears on the same programme.

'THE SECRET OF MADAME BLANCHE'

IRENE DUNNE'S FINE PORTRAYAL

New honours are won by Irene Dunne, remembered for the distinction she gave to "Cimarron" and "Back Street," in the latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "The Secret of Madame Blanche," showing on Sunday at the Queen's Theatre. The drama covers a period of more than thirty years with Miss Dunne embodying her appealing role from girlhood to middle-age. The scenes reveal sweeping variety with steadily mounting interest in the intense life drama.

The heroine of "The Secret of Madame Blanche" is first seen as a young chorus girl in a New York musical show of the "Gay '90's." The production is taken to England and the picture then becomes a story of theatrical and society life in London. There is even a view of the famous Kit Kat Club, then the centre of London's night life.

Keep Marriage Secret.

So attractive is Sally that she draws many admirers, one of whom marries her. He is the son of a rich and titled jam manufacturer, and fearing to lose his father's financial support, he keeps the marriage secret. Sally submits to this until she learns that she is going to have a child. Her husband, driven to distraction by his inability to get money, commits suicide and his father takes the child from Sally.

With the passing years the aging mother comes to own a little tavern where one night a youthful soldier, returned from the front, is involved in a quarrel with a man who meets his death. By this time Sally knows the boy to be her son and to shield him takes the responsibility for the tragedy on herself without revealing her identity. It is enough for her that the boy has returned to her once more. The startling climax to the story comes when the boy discovers that she is his mother.

All this is poignantly realized in the acting of Miss Dunne, whose earlier scenes gain charm by her singing and dancing. Lionel Atwill has a forceful part as the father-in-law and the role of the ineffectual husband is cleverly played by Phillips Holmes. Competent supporting work is contributed by Una Merkel, Douglas Walton, C. Henry Gordon, Jean Parker and Mitchell Lewis. As director, Charles Brabin brings out vividly both the dramatic and pictorial qualities of "The Secret of Madame Blanche."

"CAVALCADE"

COMING TO THE KING'S THEATRE

It is extremely well acted. Clive Brook, Diana Wynyard, Herbert Mundin, Una O'Connor, Ursula Jeans, Frank Lawton and Irene Brown are beyond praise.

Exquisitely English.

The most extraordinary feature of this film is that Hollywood has made it as English in setting, and spirit, and in speech as if it had been taken in the heart of London. It is the very soul and substance of England. It crystallises and glorifies the greatness of our land in a manner and on a scale beyond all praise. Only one more thing need be said: The magnitude of "Cavalcade" is staggering and the magnitude of the courage that must have gone to its making is even more staggering. Diana Wynyard superb. Clive Brook's make up in this picture was so realistic, first as a young man, later an officer, middle aged, and then old and grey. Do not miss this great picture, as it is a rare treat indeed. It ran for months at the Tivoli in London. They say that films are the religion of the people. After you have seen "Cavalcade" you will have to admit that there is some truth in this claim.

INDO-JAPANESE TRADE CONVENTION

JAPANESE ANGER AT ABROGATION

TOKYO, April 25.

That the notification served Japan concerning abrogation of the Indo-Japanese trade convention is a further step towards an extreme protectionist policy by Britain and towards the formation of an Imperial economic bloc is one of the interpretations placed on this action by a large number of the papers in Japan.

The Osaka Asahi, does not think that British indignation over the unwarranted arrest and punishment of the employees of Metropolitan-Vickers by Soviet Russia completely explains abrogation commercial treaty. The abrogation of the Indo-Japanese commercial treaty and the enactment of the antidumping law are also traced by this paper to decisions reached at the Ottawa Conference. The abrogation of the treaty with Russia, the Asahi says, is designed to make British consumers buy Canadian timber and wheat, however dear, instead of Russian goods; while the abrogation of the Indo-Japanese trade convention is to make Indian consumers purchase dear Lancashire goods instead of cheap Japanese manufactures.

Denouncing the reasons advanced for abrogation of the Indo-Japanese commercial treaty as very weak and expressing indignation that this action was taken without any previous diplomatic negotiations, the Hochi, one of Tokyo's leading journals, says that the Indian tariff actually in force levies a fifty per cent. duty on Japanese cloth and a 110 per cent. duty on rayon. Consequently, to raise these rates, the paper says, is extremely unfair. The low exchange, which is charged to be beneficial to Japanese merchants, means, at the same time the paper says, dearer raw materials so that the imposition of higher duties at present is clearly unreasonable. The Hochi then declares that during the past five years, Japan exported to the whole of the British Empire goods of an average annual value of Yen. 331,500,000, importing Yen. 510,000,000 worth. The imposition of prohibitive duties in Japanese goods in disregard of this fact it holds to be unjust and unfair.

The Indian cotton industry, according to this paper, cannot hope to compete with the Japanese industry owing to climatic and technical reasons. The people of India, it proceeds, have gained great benefits by the consumption of cheap Japanese goods, but the measures now being taken to protect the Indian cotton industry ignore these economic facts, besides being cruel to Indian consumers generally. The simple truth, it declares, is that Japanese goods are being hounded from pillar to post in order to make room for those of Lancashire.

The Yomiuri, another much-read Tokyo daily, characterizes the action of the Indo-British authorities as constituting a flagrant breach of international friendship. It is obvious, it says, that the British Government took advantage of the position of international isolation in which Japan now finds herself on account of her withdrawal from the League of Nations to satisfy the demands of the Lancashire cotton interest. This consideration, it says coupled with the inability of many countries to compete with Japanese goods, makes the Japanese apprehensive lest a boycott of Japanese goods on a very extensive scale take place. The action just taken by the British Government shows that such apprehension is not illfounded, it avers, and the fact that a "boycott" of Japanese goods started almost simultaneously in India and Egypt (sic) testifies to Britain's deliberate economic discrimination against Japan. The "Yomiuri" concludes by warning Japan that the forthcoming economic conferences at Washington and at London may prove positively injurious to Japanese interests.

PLANE "BURSTS" IN MID-AIR

PILOT'S PARACHUTE JUMP: ONE DEATH IN SCOUT CRASH

Tokyo.—A fighting plane attached to the Naval Air Corps "burst" in mid-air on Sunday, when flying over Kasumigaura.

The machine was at an altitude of 1,000 feet, and the official report states that "it evidently got into strong air currents, and began to break up."

The pilot managed to make a successful parachute jump.

A scout plane of the Tachiarai Air Regiment, piloted by Flight Sergeant Takujima crashed, while flying over the aerodrome with all the other planes, in a review in commemoration of the 15th anniversary of the regiment's formation.

The pilot was killed instantly, while the observer was critically injured.

JAPANESE NAVAL AND AIR BASES

TO BE CONSTRUCTED 300 MILES FROM HONGKONG

SHANGHAI, May 2.

To strengthen their position in the Pacific and along the southern Chinese coast, the Japanese have, according to a semi-official report, completed plans for the construction of a naval base and an air base on one of the islands of the Ponghu archipelago, near the island of Formosa.

The Japanese Naval Office proposes to station a number of warships and transport ships in these island where fuel and food supplies will be stored. The forts along the Chilung peninsula on the northern coast of Formosa are being strengthened.

The report also states that there is a possibility of the Japanese threatening the Province of Fukien and other parts of South China.—Nanyang Siang Pau.

The Ponghu group is situated off the coast of Formosa opposite Amoy and is about 300 miles from Hong Kong.

BOXER INDEMNITY REMISSIONS

WHAT BRITAIN AND THE U.S. HAVE GIVEN

Mr. Baldwin's reply in the House of Commons, on behalf of the Foreign Secretary to Sir John Wardlaw-Milne's question whether any memorial comparable to that secured by the United States in the shape of the university at Peking had been arranged to mark the sacrifice of the British taxpayer in remitting his share of the Boxer Indemnity to an amount approximately five times greater than that given up by taxpayers in the United States seems to require amendment says the North China Daily News. In its handling of the figures involved it showed a less accurate grasp of the position than did Sir John's inquiry, Mr. Baldwin is reported to have stated that Sir John

"had been misinformed in regard to the comparison in the sums involved. The United States had remitted approximately 35,000,000 in gold dollars out of a total indemnity of 53,000,000 which was about 65½ per cent. The respective figures in the case of Great Britain were £11,000,000 and £16,500,000 or approximately 68 per cent."

Those figures include about G.$11 millions which were remitted by America in 1908 as in excess of the actual claims payable. This remission was, of course, not a sacrifice by the American taxpayer and should be excluded from any comparison with the British remission. America's remission in 1924 amounted to G.$12 millions, as against Great Britain's £11,000,000. On that basis the American remission worked out at about 30 per cent. and the British at 68 per cent. It would seem that it was Mr. Baldwin and not Sir John Wardlaw Milne who was misinformed for, on this basis, the British sacrifice was nearly five times that of the American. Perhaps a further question in the House of Commons may make this clear.

MANCHUKUO AND OPEN PRINCIPLE

"POLICY TO BE MAINTAINED"

Changhun, May 4.

In view of the general atmosphere in Europe and America regarding Japan and Manchukuo, the Foreign Ministry of Manchukuo Government issued a statement yesterday emphasising the open door policy and the independence of Manchukuo.

The statement said that Manchukuo will import goods from any country if they are "cheap and excellent." It stated that the Manchukuo Government had not refused any proposal for investments by foreigners in order to develop natural resources.

Recognition or non-recognition of the new state will not affect the building of the new state, it was said. Manchukuo will not boycott goods from countries which do not recognise the new state, according to the statement.

GERMAN SPY IN LORDS

The Case of Captain von Rintelen Discussed

LONDON, May 3.

A former German spy had the distinction of having a debate in the House of Lords devoted to himself to-day.

He was Captain von Rintelen, whose permission to reside in Great Britain Viscount Bertie of Thame was most anxious should be revoked.

Viscount Bertie said that, during the War, Captain von Rintelen served as a spy or saboteur against Britain and her Allies, for which he had served a sentence of four years' imprisonment in the United States.

Viscount Bertie quoted from a book by von Rintelen describing how he had entered America with a forged passport and how incendiary bombs had been placed in munition ships timed to explode after they were outside American waters.

The Earl of Lucan, replying for the Government, expressed the opinion that the presence of Captain von Rintelen was not detrimental to Great Britain.

Lord Newton (Conservative) described how Captain von Rintelen had been trapped into returning to Europe by a telegram signed in the name of the German Government by Admiral Sir Reginald Hall and how he was taken prisoner on his arrival off Falmouth.

Viscount Bertie pressed to a decision a motion for the revocation of permission for Captain von Rintelen to reside in Great Britain.

The motion, however, was defeated by fourteen votes.

COLONY'S FINANCES IN 1932

REVENUE EXCEEDS EXPENDITURE BY MILLION AND HALF DOLLARS

BEARING UP AGAINST THE DEPRESSION

The Colonial Treasurer, the Hon. Mr. E. Taylor, in his report on the finances of the Colony for the year 1932, states that the revenue for the year amounted to $33,549,716 and the expenditure was $32,050,283. Revenue therefore exceeded expenditure by $1,499,433. The approved estimated revenue for the year was $33,991,510 while the revised figure was $33,152,674, a decrease of $838,836. The approved estimate of expenditure for the year was shown as $34,981,661 including the sum of 1,000,000 from surplus balances, and the revised estimate amounted to $32,687,500 or $637,217 above the actual expenditure.

The following statement shows the revenue and expenditure for each of the years of the last decade:—

Year.	Revenue.	Expenditure.	Surplus.	Deficit.
1923	24,783,763	21,571,905	3,211,858	—
1924	24,209,640	26,726,428	—	2,516,788
1925	23,244,366	28,266,818	—	5,022,452
1926	21,131,582	23,524,716	—	2,393,131
1927	21,344,536	20,845,065	499,471	—
1928	24,068,399	21,230,242	3,738,157	—
1929	23,554,475	21,983,257	1,571,218	—
1930	27,818,473	28,119,646	—	301,173
1931	33,146,724	31,160,774	1,985,950	—
1932	33,549,716	32,050,283	1,499,433	—

Revenue.

Included in the total revenue for the year of $33,549,716 were two abnormal credits, viz., $222,873 and $238,704. The first of these items is a re-imbursement from loan account in respect of the salaries of officers employed on loan works. These salaries were in the first instance charged against expenditure to safeguard the pension rights of the officers concerned. From the date of the passing of the new Pension Ordinance, 24th June, 1932, the salaries are being charged against the respective loan works on which the officers are employed. The second item represents the appreciation which has taken place in the market value of the sterling funds invested on account of surplus balances. These funds were written down on 31st December, 1931, by £10,005 9s. 11d. or $144,086. The rise in trustee stocks during the year brought up the value of £15,799 6s. 3d. or $238,794 and this ambunt had to be written on to revenue in order to show the stocks in the balance sheet at the market price ruling on 31st December, 1932. To obtain a fair comparison of the normal revenue for 1932 with that of 1931 these two amounts should be deducted when the figures would be $33,088,049 for 1932 and $33,146,724 for 1931. The former figure compares with $33,152,674 which was the revised estimate of revenue for 1932. If allowance therefore is made for these credits the normal revenue for 1932 of $33,088,049 would compare with the expenditure for 1932 of $32,050,283.

The largest individual item of revenue is derived from the assessment tax, the sum of $6,332,066 being collected. This represent 18.9 per cent. of the total revenue or 19.7 per cent. of the revenue exclusive of land sales.

In the following table the actual revenue for the year 1932 is given for 1931 and 1932 (000 omitted).

	1931. $	1932. $
Duties	6,206	6,597
Port and Harbour Dues	813	811
Licences, etc.	15,790	16,503
Court Fees, etc.	2,151	2,296
Post Office	2,035	1,964
Kowloon-Canton Railway	1,905	1,295
Rent of Government Property	1,432	1,537
Interest	224	313
Miscellaneous	231	867
Total (exclusive of Land Sales)	29,982	32,179
Land Sales, Premia on New Leases).	3,184	1,370
Total	33,146	33,549

With the exception of "Duties," "Post Office" and "Land Sales" each Head of Revenue showed an increase over the Estimates for 1932. In regard to "Duties" this was to be expected as liquor and tobacco duties were reckoned on the basis of $1=1s. whereas the average rate throughout the year was over 1s. 3d.

Expenditure.

The expenditure for the year amounted to $32,050,283 against an estimate of $34,981,661 a decrease of $2,931,378. The total sum of $32,050,283 is made up as follows:—

Ordinary Expenditure	$29,082,423
Extraordinary Expenditure Public Works	1,967,860
Part payment to the Admiralty for surrender of the Naval Arsenal Yard and Kellett Island	1,000,000

Ordinary Expenditure for the year was $29,082,423 against $28,765,843 in the preceding year showing an increase of $296,580.

Only five heads of Expenditure were exceeded:—

Secretariat for Chinese Affairs	$ 669.83
Post Office due to transit charges being paid in gold.	9,003.03
Defence (b) Military Contributions	202,672.47
Miscellaneous Services. Government servants passages required $87,734 more than estimated. Expenses in connection with the anti-Japanese riots in the previous year cost $30,738.	128,462.65
Public Works Recurrent	376,819.99

Trade Loan Account.

During the course of the year, further reductions in the amount of loans outstanding were made by the redemption of eleven loans amounting to $451,828.23 and, by 31st, December, only eight loans amounting to $752,751.50 were outstanding. of the original issue of $15,633,582.07, the sum of $14,775,819.17 has now been accounted for.

Public Debt.

The inscribed Stock Loans of 1903 and 1906 amounted to £1,485,733 and the Sinking Fund stood at £832,751 as against £761,447 at the end of 1931.

The Public Works Loan (Ordinance No. 14 of 1927) amounted to $4,927,000. $3,000,000 of this loan was issued locally at par on November 1st, 1927. The second issue was made on November 1st, 1928, at a premium of 3 per cent.—Bonds to the nominal value of $1,927,000 being allotted. The Sinking Fund amounted to £125,792 as against £98,036 at the end of 1931.

General.

The receipts from "Opium Sales" fell considerably short of the estimate, the deficit amounting to $685,774. This source of revenue continues to decline and although the estimate for 1933 has been reduced by $500,000 compared with 1932 it is quite probable that there will be a further shortfall in 1933 of $500,000.

The receipts from Estate duties were much higher than usual, many more items having been dealt with, and in addition three large estates brought in $406,142.

Remittances from abroad practically ceased at the end of 1931. Bankers' fixed deposit rates throughout the year were about 2 per cent. for renewals of year money. No interest was paid except in special cases on new short money. There is still a very large amount of surplus funds in the Colony available for investment.

Trade was stagnant, but statistics of the Imports and Exports Trade do not reveal such an unsatisfactory position as might have been imagined taking into consideration the large contraction in international trade. Hong Kong merchants were overstocked with piece goods bought when the dollar was low and now find themselves unable to dispose of these resulting in a number of bankruptcies.

National Cash Registers were installed in the Treasury in May and hand written receipts discontinued except for deposits.

ATTEMPTED MURDER OF JOURNALIST

Outrage in Lyndhurst Terrace

CHICKEN-CARRIER CHARGED

The recent shooting outrage in Lyndhurst Terrace in which a Chinese newspaper proprietor had a most fortunate escape from death had its sequel at Central Magistracy yesterday when Chan Hee, 22, described as a chicken carrier was charged before Mr. Wynne-Jones with attempted murder.

Mr. J. A. Fraser, assistant Attorney General, appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. M. K. Lo defended.

Outlining the facts of the case, Mr. Fraser said: "The accused is charged with the attempted murder by shooting of Lo Wai Keung on the evening of April 18. Mr. Lo is the proprietor of the Tin Nam Yat Po, a Chinese newspaper, at 32, Hollywood Road. The scene of the shooting was outside No. 19, Lyndhurst Terrace. The house of Detective Inspector Chu Heung is at No. 20 on the opposite side of the road, two houses away. At the time of the shooting there were present L.S.C. 142 and Mr. Ng Tak Wing, one of the chief actors in the case.

Shortly before 7.45 p.m. Mr. Lo left his premises and walked down Lyndhurst Terrace. As he approached No. 19 he heard footsteps behind and turned round. As he did so a shot was fired at him wounding him on the left shoulder. Immediately on hearing the shot, he ran across the pavement into No. 19. Inside the shop at the time were three fokis, and one of them was attending to two ladies.

Five Shots Fired

One shot was fired outside in the street. Four other shots were fired immediately after that. The shots were from a revolver which would be produced, and they sounded like crackers at the time. When the man ran into the shop and as the second shot was fired, the three fokis took cover. The man ran round the corner, behind a ladder, climbed over the foki who had already concealed himself there, and hid himself in the recess in the stairs. The four other shots were fired either just outside or just inside the shop

A Long Chase.

The man who fired the shots threw the revolver down and ran out of the shop. He was observed by Mr. Ng Tak Wing who had turned round at the sound of the shooting. He was pursued up the street by Mr. Ng and L.S.C. 142, who blew a whistle at the same time. The man ran along Lyndhurst Terrace and turned to the right closely followed by Mr. Ng and the constable. He turned round Gage Street and turned to the right to Chuk Hing Lane. The constable followed him while Mr. Ng went along Gage Street with a view to intercepting him. Mr. Ng was met at the corner of Gage Street by another Chinese constable who had apparently heard of the shooting and was coming up at the time. These two saw the man come out from Chuk Hing Lane and ran into Gutzlaff Street. At the corner of the Street the man took off his jacket and threw it away. The constable picked up the jacket, while Mr. Ng continued the chase. The man turned into Wellington Street and then down Graham Street. He then turned left into Queen's Road and then down Peel Street. He turned right into Wellington Street again. All this time he was being closely pursued by Mr Ng and on the way up Staveley Street he was caught by Mr. Ng. He was then taken back to No 19 Lyndhurst Terrace.

In the meantime Inspector Chu Heung had come down from his house and gone into the shop where he picked up the revolver. The accused was taken to Central Police Station, and a police officer was left to look after the shop. The officer made a serch of the premises and found the wounded man behind the stairs. The accused was searched and no arms were found on him.

Mark on Finger.

On his being taken back to the Central Police Station, it was observed that he had a mark on his left hand. The assistance of Mr. Branson, the Government Analyst, was called in and he examined this mark and took away certain of the matter found on it. The results of his examination would be given later. Four of the bullets which were fired were recovered from the shop.

"The next day," said Mr. Fraser, "Inspector Chester Woods cautioned the accused and he made a statement which is in your Worship's possession. At the last hearing it was intimated that it was desired to make an experiment with the same revolver and that the accused be given an opportunity to be present. The experiment has been made but whether the results will justify its being put in as evidence I do not know. I can only say that it may be put in. When charged with the offence the accused simply said: 'I have already confessed yesterday. I have nothing to say.'"

After evidence had been given by several witnesses including the complainant himself, in support of Mr. Fraser's statement, the case was adjourned until Friday afternoon. Mr. Lo reserved his cross-examination.

CHRISTIANITY IN CHINA

MEETING OF THE NATIONAL CHRISTIANITY COUNCIL

(From Our Own Correspondent)

SUNKIANG, May 4.

The National Christian Council of China is holding it second biennial meetings, and the ninth meeting since its organization, in the compound of the Southern Methodist Mission at Sunkiang, China.

The first session of this Biennial Meeting began on the evening of May 3, 1933. At that time the Southern Methodist Church and the schools connected therewith gave a public reception and welcome to the members of the Council. Later that same evening, the various committees needed to carry on the work of this Biennial Meeting were appointed.

A Big Organization.

Of the approximately one hundred members of the National Christian Council of China somewhat over two-thirds are present at this Biennial Meeting. Among them are representatives from the South, West and North of China as well as other parts. The membership of the Council represents at the present moment seventeen major church organizations and seven national Christian organizations which together comprise about seventy per cent of the membership of the Christian Movement in China.

Of the membership of the Council, about thirty per cent are in administrative positions and about twenty-two per cent come from institutions, most of the rest directly representing churches.

This Biennial Meeting was opened by Bishop C. P. Wang, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Peiping, who is chairman of the Council. The following slogan has been prominently placed in the meeting room: "Let obstacles be stepping stones, not stumbling blocks."

The Crisis and Christian Duty.

Apart from a small amount of routine business, the chief subject of discussion on Thursday, May 4, 1933, was that of the present crisis in China and the relation of the Christian Movement thereto. Dr. C. Y. Cheng, General Secretary of the National Christian Council, and Mr. L. T. Chen, of the Kincheng Banking Corporation, Shanghai, were the principal speakers at the morning session. Their speeches were followed by a live discussion. Both speeches and discussions were marked by a note of realism and frankness, in dealing with the problems at present confronting China. The difficulty China has in formulating a definite policy vis-a-vis its present national situation was frankly recognized. It was also recognized that with regard to most of the foreign powers China enjoys satisfactory relationships.

In the afternoon, the delegates of this Biennial Meeting were divided into four groups, one of which used the English language alone, one the Chinese language, and two of which were bi-lingual. This arrangement was made with a view to facilitating discussion and understanding.

All these four groups discussed at length the present crisis in China and the relation of Christians thereto. On the basis of a series of questions, effort was made to define the causes of the crisis, the remedies being offered, and to determine which of these were sound; and what Christians, as individuals or groups, could do in face of the present crisis. At the close of the afternoon no conclusion had been reached.

At the close of the morning service, appreciative reference was made to the late Dr. T. H. Hodgkin, who passed away quite recently and who long and faithfully served the National Christian Council and the best interests of the Chinese people. In addition, reference was made to the sympathetic attitude of missionaries, in general, to the critical issues now disturbing the life of the Chinese people.

In spite of the exceedingly critical nature of the general circumstances under which this Biennial Meeting is being held, the delegates show a good spirit and a determination to find out how to play their part as Christians therein.

UNMUZZLED DOGS

OWNERS FINED $5 EACH

Quite a number of dog owners appeared before Mr. MacLaren at Central Police for having failed to muzzle their dogs. Each offender was fined $5. Some of the defendants were also summoned for keeping dogs without a licence, and on this count they were cautioned.

On the muzzling summonses, Mrs. Shoesmith, 5 B Block Kennedy Road, Alice Lim, 1, Sugar Street, Mrs. H. To, 47, Conduit Road, Mr. Esmail, 15, Man Chong Fong, Mrs. Salmond, 13, Tin Lok Lane and Mr. A. B. Hamson, 4, Leighton Hill Road, were fined $5 each.

One Chinese woman entered the excuse that the muzzles were taken off to enable the dogs to have their meal. His Worship replied that was the general excuse, and advised defendant to tie something to the dog's collar when it was being fed.

BODY FOUND IN HARBOUR

EX-POLICEMAN COMMITS SUICIDE.

Suspicions of foul play were raised yesterday when the body of an elderly Chinese was found floating in the water off the foreshore at Causeway Bay. Investigations, however, showed that the man had committed suicide. The body was that of a man of about 55 years of age. A rope circled the waist, and one end was made fast to a capstan preventing the body from floating away. The body was identified as that of Chang Kiu, formerly of the police force. He had retired on pension. Since retirement, he had been employed in the Hong Kong Electric Company. The body was found in close proximity to the offices of the Company at North Point.

It was also disclosed by relatives that deceased had been in straitened circumstances and was very depressed.

"HAPPY EVENT" AT LOCAL STABLES

Wild Life Foals on Monday

BRILLIANT RACING CAREER OF MOTHER

Messrs. Wuang and Li's Wild Life, a pony known to all racegoers as one of the best to have raced in Hong Kong during the past year, foaled on Monday at the Jockey Club stables.

The "youngster" is a promising looking dark chestnut and it is the hope of everyone who has seen him that he will grow up and race in the Colony. He is the son of Navy Hall.

It will be recalled that Gold Mine, belonging to Mr. Li Tse Fong, foaled in Hong Kong last year, but the little one was very weak and could not stand up for a week. Eventually, he was sent to Macao, but the climate proved too much for him. The little foal of Wild Life, however, is a strong looking customer, and is the first foal born in Hong Kong from local race ponies.

Wild Life, it will be recalled, was second to Liberty Bay in the Derby of 1932. Since then she has won many races, but had the misfortune to run up against Liberty Bay, undoubtedly the best race pony in Hong Kong, every time she has started in any of the classic.

Navy Hall is a very strong pony and quite a good one this year. His recent performances mark him as a pony of some quality. It would seem that the little foal has plenty of "breed" about him, and if he survives his infancy, his progress on the local turf will no doubt be followed with great interest.

POSTAL CENSORSHIP IN JAPAN?

PLAN TO BE LAID BEFORE THE COMMITTEE ON "THOUGHT"

Tokyo.—Mr. Kuno, Director of the Postal Affairs Bureau of the Department of Communications, has drawn up a plan for the control of ideas through the inspection of postal matters. The draft plan will be laid before the Committee on "Thought" Measures shortly.

According to this plan, a strict inspection is to be enforced, under the Postal Law, of parcels of books and printed matter leaving and arriving in this country. Books and printed matter which are deemed objectionable on inspection are to be referred to the Home Office immediately. In view, however, of the fact that it has often happened in the past that delay in the Home Office's directions or replies has interfered with prompt and effectual action, proper steps are to be taken to promote closer and quicker co-operation between the Home Office and the Department of Communications.

It is also proposed that the telegrams leaving and reaching this country should be subjected to strict censorship under the Telegraph Law.

HONG KONG, MAY 11, 1933.

HONG KONG PRISON SYSTEM

AN increase in the number of persons convicted and sent to prison is capable of either a pessimistic or an optimistic explanation. Crime may be on the increase, or the police may be showing more efficiency. In this Colony the latter assumption is the safe one, and last year was notable for a number of smart arrests and much skilful collection of evidence. The only weakness in the process of the law, locally, appears to be in the actual conducting of the Crown cases, and the Law Society's recommendation on the necessity for an experienced and full-time Crown Prosecutor has been justified.

According to the report of the Superintendent of Prisons the number of persons sent to prison on conviction last year numbered 6,361 compared with 5,921 in 1931. Persons held on remand, or because no surety was forthcoming, increased to 1,379 as against 802, a reflection of the big drive against opium smugglers.

The inhabitants of the gaol were kept busy and the production of well over eighteen million Government forms was no mean achievement. If a small Colony like Hong Kong, without democratic government, and all the queries and correspondence arising therefrom, needs eighteen million forms, and 82,000 books annually, the number printed for the Home Government must run into astronomical figures! However, besides printing, other suitable industries went on in the gaols.

The Superintendent states curtly, in reference to Victoria Gaol, that it was "again overcrowded" and workshop accommodation is inadequate. Discipline was good, only 603 punishments being awarded to over six thousand occupants. There were only two escapes, and those from Lai Chi Kok, which also suggests that drastic "improvements" have been made. The state of Victoria Gaol has long been a serious problem. The riots of 1931 have not been forgotten, escapes, and last minute captures, were far too numerous in times past, and assaults on warders though infrequent gave an unpleasant impression. The printing shop was once described by a gaol medical officer as a "forcing bed for tuberculosis," and the attack penned by a foreign journalist, who had good cause to dislike the place, though obviously unfair and highly coloured, was not wholly devoid of truth.

Credit is, therefore, due to those who have brought about an obvious improvement, but the problem will not be solved till the completion of the new prison at Stanley. It is good neither for a neighbourhood of a big city to have a gaol in its midst, nor for prisoners to be in such surroundings.

The description of the new prison at Lai Chi Kok for women may rouse a doubt in some minds as to whether the Government is not making prison too attractive a proposition for persons undergoing punishment and used to a low standard of living. The problem is not easy, for those who think that the prospect of severe penalties is no deterrent to crime are under a delusion. There are kleptomaniacs, and other forms of maniacs, including persons impelled to the crime passionel, there are also old lags and professional criminals, who cannot go straight, but a great many persons, when committing their first crime know perfectly well what they are doing and weigh very carefully the consequences of their act. Moreover, human nature is adaptable, and the experienced hands know how to make themselves fairly comfortable in gaol. It is therefore doing no good services either to the community or to those in revolt against it, to make prison pleasant.

The difficulty, however, is to avoid making the convict a worse person, physically and mentally, when he leaves than when he enters prison. The State has obviously no right, for example, to sentence a man to a term of imprisonment, and, in addition to permanently impaired health owing to insanitary conditions and bad food. The question of the mental hardening of the character into determined hostility to society, is a grave and practical consideration. Criminals are an enormous expense, not only in the goods they steal, but in the precautions that have to be taken against them. Hollywood stars spend fortunes in securing the safety of themselves and their children. The hunting down of crime, and the building up of evidence are most costly matters in salaries, expenses, fees and "public time." Hong Kong is mercifully free from crime on a big scale, thanks primarily to an alert police force, but a good prison system that deals severely, with convicts, making them, if possible, reformed characters, even against natural inclinations, is of nearly equal importance.

ORIGIN OF LOCAL CARBARETS

How the "Invasion" Began

WHY CABARET GIRLS ARE CALLED 'INSTRUCTRESSES'

[SPECIAL TO THE "DAILY PRESS."]

While cabarets were unknown in Hong Kong a few years ago, to-day the mention of the word "cabaret" is sufficient to cause unending discussion between people holding divergent views on the subject. Many of those who are for or against the cabarets, have not the faintest idea how these institutions came to be established in Hong Kong and in the article below it is hoped to trace the beginning of the cabaret movement here and the struggle for existence which it had to put up and the obstacles over which it seems to have triumphed.

Long before the coming of cabarets, the Chinese of the educated class had taken to dancing but the only opportunity they had had of enjoying this pastime in public was at the tea-dances provided by the local hotels. With dancing, as with everything else in China, the women were at first a little bit behind so that quite a number of young people found themselves without dancing partners. A few local enthusiasts encouraged West Point girls to take up dancing and at one time many of these girls were to be seen in local dancing places. In fact they were so predominant at one place, which is no longer functioning, that the proprietors had to ask the co-operation of patrons not to bring along girls from West Point.

Private Clubs.

The dancing craze, however, seemed to have spread rapidly, and with the closing of several hotels and restaurants following the strike and boycott of 1925, the number of places where one could enjoy a tea-dance or a dinner-dance became limited and in order to meet their needs, those who were fond of dancing formed themselves into cliques and ran private clubs where they could dance to their hearts' content. But the bill was a pretty heavy one and to lighten it, in one or two of these places, the non-dancer was made welcome and to enable him to learn the finer points of the art, dance instructresses were employed. At this time, the shortage of dance partners was still being felt and whenever the instructresses were not actually teaching, members danced with them. This is probably the reason why cabaret girls in Hong Kong are still referred to as "dance instructresses."

Financial difficulties, however, caused many of these places to close down. The rent for a place in the city was pretty high, the salary of instructress, musicians and servants totalled such a big figure that members found that on the whole they were being asked too much and so duly backed out. Up to this point these dance places were strictly for members only. One institution made an experiment. They kept a number of instructresses for members who had to pay a pretty high fee to belong, and, in order to lighten the bill, encouraged visitors to come along with their own partners, on the understanding that such visitors did not dance with the "instructresses" employed by the institution. This scheme provided cheap dancing for many people and immediately proved very popular, and those who had no partners to bring along sometimes joined up as members to avail themselves of the services of the instructresses.

When the Public Began.

Originally the places was open to members only, and friends of members who had to bring their own partners. Gradually, however, the membership increased sufficiently to permit of the engaging of several more instructresses. It was found, however, that members still had to foot a heavy bill, while the casual visitor, coming along with his own partner, spent next to nothing. Many people resigned their membership at this time, and, left with a number of dance instructresses doing nothing each night, the proprietors conceived the idea that these girls might dance with all and sundry, if a sum of fifty cents a dance was paid to them for the privilege.

Meanwhile, the check at the entrance on "members and their friends" began to be relaxed, as with the diminishing number of members, such conscientiousness would impair the attendance. Gradually more and more members of the public attended this enterprising institution and cheerfully paid a dollar for two dances.

In the early days of cabarets, in Hong Kong, there was such a scarcity of partners that there was always a rush when the band struck up. It was perhaps this rush on the part of the patrons that encouraged proprietors of subsequent cabarets to start. Quite a number have come into existence recently and it shows that there are not sufficient dance girls in Hong Kong, and many girls have been brought into the Colony from Shanghai. The cabaret girls are mostly Chinese but practically every "academy" a few non-Chinese are employed.

New French Cruiser.

The new French cruiser, Emile Bertin, is to be launched at St. Nazaire on May 9. This 6,000-ton vessel was laid down in 1931, and her estimated speed is 36 knots.

The armament will consist of nine 6-inch guns firing shells of 110lb. weight. These guns, which will be mounted in triple turrets, are believed to be superior in ballistic qualities to all others of the same calibre. The cruiser will also be armed with six anti-aircraft guns.

Municipal Cat Farm.

Paris.—The Paris Municipal Council has decided to establish a "stud" farm for cats. It will be placed under the care of an expert, whose duty it will be to carry out a process of selection.

From an administrative point of view, the only cat worth breeding is one whose instinct is to kill rats, an instinct which is not innate in all cats, and the ultimate purpose of the farm is to produce a supply of pedigree ratters.

Tale of Yesterday.

He had dined well but unwisely in a Fort hotel. At last the time came for him to go home, and he left the hotel by a side exit.

Approaching a policeman he said falteringly, "Officer, I'm looking for a parking-place."

The Policeman looked at him severely.

"But you've no car, sir," he said.

"Oh, yesh, I have," said the reveller. "It's in the parking-place I am looking for."

Not Cricket.

A man-eating lion, for instance, would possibly yield to persuasion if it were gently pointed out to him that it was unkind to sink his fangs in a tiger. The rogue elephant could, perhaps, be taught to consider the feelings of others. He should be told that putting his foot on a python while it slept wasn't playing the game.

To crocodiles it should be tactfully explained that lying in the water with all but their eyes and nose submerged, and looking like logs, is nothing short of deceit. As for the rhino, well perhaps he would be too thick skinned!

Better Manners in the Jungle.

It is not—a Cruelty Prevention report states—a desire to learn more of natural history that fills theatres "where lions stalk the hartebeeste, and tigers spring upon quaggas, and pythons swoop from giant branches . . . it would seem it is the thrill of battle and death that attracts the public, especially children."

Instead of going out to capture, shoot, and film these savage animals and reptiles the Hollywood hunters ought to make an effort to instil the spirit of peace and good will into the jungle.

40-Pound Salmon in the Thames.

There is a salmon weighing about 40 pounds somewhere in the Thames.

This was revealed by Lord Desborough, Chairman of the Thames Conservancy Board, at the annual meeting.

He stated that a number of Hucho salmon imported from the Danube were placed in the Thames in 1905. There was no doubt that they were still in the river. They had been seen at Abingdon, and some had attained a size of over 20 pounds and one 40 pounds.

Tea for Two.

The deference which members of Parliament were accustomed to receive from constituents visiting the House of Commons is disappearing. Some constituents interpret literally the term "your obedient servant" with which the candidate—unless he be a Socialist—concludes his letters and his election address.

A North Country member had a "green card" handed to him by an attendant. To send in such a card to a member is equivalent to ringing the door bell of his residence when one is making a call. The card, in this instance, bore the names of two constituents, and under the heading "business" was written "Tea on the Terrace."

Synthetic Boat Race?

When Oxford and Cambridge meet in the Boat Race next year they may use craft manufactured from synthetic wood. That, at least, was the possibility envisaged. This comparatively new material has already been successfully used in the construction of small boats, and experiments are now in progress which have in view its application to aircraft as a whole and not simply to aviation accessories. Plastic material is invading every avenue of manufacture, from that of gear-wheels to that of artificial flowers, and the day appears to be not far distant when we will live, in homes that are synthetic from the very foundations.

Sculptor's Blind Model.

Mr. W. Reid Dick, R.A., the noted Glasgow sculptor who makes London his home, is exercising his talents in a good cause in the latest piece of work he has undertaken. It is a bust in marble of a blind boy whom he selected from about 50 pupils at a school for the blind in the North of London, and when it is completed he will present it as a gift to the school, for the benefit of the funds of which it will later be sold. He has already decided to name it simply "The Blind Child." The 12-year-old boy chosen by Mr. Reid Dick to be his model is, though totally blind, a keen cricketer and footballer. The games are taught at the school with the aid of specially constructed balls filled with bells.

The Colony had a clean bill of health on Tuesday as regards notifiable disease.

Owing to the continued indisposition of Mr. Butters, Mr. Wynne-Jones presided at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday.

As the Yaumati ferry Man Cheung was in mid-stream on Tuesday, a Chinese passenger threw himself into the water, but was rescued by a seaman and taken ashore to Hospital. The would-be suicide, Fung Ying Yeung, is only 16 years of age.

The wedding will shortly take place between Mr. Alex. Kipke, of Basilea, Lyttelton Road, Hong Kong, and Nurse Luise Buttstaedt, of 1856, Avenue Joffre, Shanghai; and between Mr. Serge Peacock, of the Peninsula Hotel, and Miss Luba Goldebaeff, of 59, Nathan Road, Kowloon.

When a Chinese youth appeared before Mr. Wynne Jones at Central Magistracy on Monday on a charge of possession of 496 spurious coins, he was remanded 48 hours to enable him to find the man who employed him as carrier. He was brought before the Court again yesterday and the Police told Mr. MacLaren that the youth had absolutely refused to help the Police. A further remand was ordered.

Pavement bootblacks were described as a perfect nuisance by Sergeant Guild in the Central Court yesterday when he charged two with obstruction. It was stated that they assembled outside the Sincere Co., Wing On Co., and Sun Company, and the last named firm had complained to the Police. The elder of the two defendants was fined $3 or five days, while the other was allowed to go with a caution.

The ground level of Tokyo has been sinking year by year, according to Dr. Miyabe, professor of Tokyo Imperial University. Comparing investigations made in the autumn of 1928 and last year, the doctor finds there is a general subsidence of two millimetres while the Marunouchi district marked the greatest subsidence of 15.5 millimetres (over six inches). No definite reason for this change is given, but the doctor thinks, insofar as the Marunouchi sinking is concerned, that it may be to the big buildings.

A swan has been "arrested" in the Place de la Concorde, Paris and taken to the nearest police station. Early in the morning the swan attracted the attention of a large crowd by alighting on the Strasbourg statue after circling the great square. A policeman undertook its capture. Time and again the bird evaded him to the enjoyment of the crowd. Finally, he succeeded, and took his "suspicious loiterer in a public place" under his arm to the lock-up.

In the middle of a production at the Irie Studios, Kobe, a popular movie actor, Yoshimi Morikawa, has disappeared. He is a grandson of Mr. Naohiko Sekiya, member of the House of Peers, and in view of his love affair with a waitress of a Kyoto cafe who also has disappeared, he is believed to be hiding somewhere with her. No light is thrown on the cause of their elopement. The only curious point attached to their flight is that in the screen play Morikawa was taking the role of a cafe patron who elopes with a girl.

LOOKING BACK 75 YEARS

We observe the following account of the discovery of Gold in British territory. Much excitement exists on Vancouver Island in consequence of the alleged discovery of rich gold deposits to the northward, in the British possessions. The precise locality of these reported gold discoveries, Capt. J. is unable to designate; but according to representations, they are located between Fort Hope and Thomson's River, and do not exceed four or five days journey from the mouth of Frazer's River. It is represented that persons with canoes can approach within ten or twelve miles of the diggings, although, in so doing, some pretty strong rapids will have to be encountered. Report has it that miners are getting out from $25 to $50 per day each; and that Indian women are panning out ten and twelve dollars each.—Hong Kong Daily Press, May 11, 1858.

LOOKING BACK 50 YEARS.

The use of the telegraph as a political agent has soon been remonstrated in China. The other day a popular movement which threatened to develop into a rising, occurred in a town called Chin Keang Poo, situated on the Grand Canal, near the Hoang Ho or Yellow River. It seems that three members of the "White Lily Set" a secret society which has become very powerful in the province of Kiangsu, were arrested and sent to the Viceroy, Tso Tsung Tang, to be dealt with at Nanking. On hearing of the arrest, the populace of Chin Keang Poo created a disturbance, clamouring for the safe return of the prisoners. So formidable became their threats and so menacing their attitude that the telegraph, which runs through the town, was set in motion by the Authorities to communicate with the Viceroy, who promptly despatched several hundred troops to overawe the people.—Hong Kong Daily Press, May 11, 1883.

Looking Back 25 Years.

At the opening of the Swatow Post Office, our Swatow correspondent adds, Taotai Liang delivered an address in Chinese followed by an able speech in English. He dwelt upon the awakening and opening of China, upon the incentives to progress which her intercourse with the West and Japan had placed before her, and upon the inspiring example of the Customs Service, now being emulated by the Imperial Postal Service.—Hong Kong Daily Press, May 11, 1908.

PREMIER REVIEWS WASHINGTON TALKS

OFFICIAL STATEMENT TO BE MADE SHORTLY

[REUTER AND BRITISH WIRELESS.]

LONDON, May 9.

THAT the United States is prepared to abandon her traditional isolation policy vis-a-vis Europe's political troubles, if a satisfactory agreement is reached at the Disarmament Conference, was disclosed by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, speaking in the House of Commons to-night on his recent conversations with President Roosevelt.

The Premier remarked at the outset that he could not say much more than he said last Thursday.

Anyone familiar with the issues involved must realise the state of the negotiations and that the position in the very delicate matters which had to be faced without delay and with determination to reach a definite agreement could not be improved by a full statement on what was going on in a tentative and purely non-committal way.

Complete Co-operation.

Four days in Washington were all to brief for agreements, but they were long enough to enable Roosevelt and himself to exchange information and survey the ground which their respective Governments had to cross before satisfactory issues were reached.

There were three big sections they had to examine, namely war debts, the business that would come before the Economic Conference and a third section, on which there was a fairly prolonged conversation, on how the British Government regarded the European situation, the prospects of peace and the pacifying of disturbing elements so that co-operation between the two Governments at Geneva should be, without coming to any alliance and without coming to any solid and sound agreement, as complete as human beings with goodwill could make it.

There was complete unanimity of opinion, said the Premier, that the International Economic Conference could not be fully successful unless the debt difficulty has been removed.

"The settlement I am thinking of—a final settlement—is going to take a little time. I do not mean by that a longish time, but I mean it literally.

"It is going to take just a little time. There are so many issues involved and so many awkward relationships to be dealt with in a complete and final settlement."

The Premier added that it was never contemplated that war debts should come before the Economic Conference.

Concurrent Negotiations.

Debt negotiations would have to go on concurrently and on parallel lines. A permanent settlement was the thing they had to aim at. The fifteenth of June was going to be an awkward hurdle but what was required was a quiet survey of the possibilities.

In the meantime, he hoped nothing would be said that would increase the difficulties, so as to make the hurdle impossible to clear.

Continuing the Premier said that since he entered the House, information had reached him that there had been a further exchange of views with the United States Government and he was now able to say that, subject to the settlement of the actual words, and while protecting the essential points of both Governments, there was every prospect of reaching an agreement as to the advisability of an immediate tariff truce. By this was meant the avoidance of any increase in the great variety of difficulties now impeding international commerce.

Stabilised Money.

The Premier also referred to the importance which both the American and British Governments attached to the raising of wholesale prices and to the task before the Economic Conference of reaching an agreement on the international relationship of the currencies of the great trading countries.

Security, said Mr. MacDonald, was also very fully considered and both Governments had clearly in front of them (the shock) to the tranquility of the mind of Europe which recent events had created and the new risks with which the Disarmament Conference was being faced.

"I am very happy to say United States Government is prepared to play a further part in tranquillising Europe by agreeing, if the Disarmament Conference comes to anything like a satisfactory issue, to take its part in consultative pacts, the effect of which will be to increase the security of Europe and the safety of threatened nations against war. This is a very considerable advance.

"Mr. Stimson began it in that very courageous statement he made before he went out of office regarding the need to re-define neutrality and the present Government has expressed its intention of going further and making those obligations definite and authoritative.

"An announcement will be made by Washington in due time when the matter is further considered and its details worked out."

The United States and ourselves, concluded the Premier, now clearly understood each other and would do everything they could make the international conference a success and thereafter continue to help in the removal of fear from the pacific nations of the earth.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, in referring to the fact that the tariff truce would not prevent the continuance of the work that Britain is now developing was apparently referring to the recent trade negotiations.

Drafted by Mr. Davis and Ministers.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

LONDON, May 10.

It is understood that Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's announcement, made in the House of Commons yesterday regarding the prospects of a tariff truce agreement was the result of a formula drafted by Mr. Norman Davis, Sir John Simon and Mr. Walter Runciman, which had been forwarded to President Roosevelt for approval.

The formula aimed at smoothing out certain difficulties in connection with the British contention that the truce should not interfere with current British trade negotiations.

It is reported that Mr. Davis is also visiting the London Ambassadors of the Powers represented on the Economic Conference Organising Committee.

Mr. Davis's first call was on the Japanese Ambassador, Mr. Matsudaira.

THE DISARMAMENT QUESTION

IMPORTANT CONVERSATIONS IN LONDON

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

LONDON, May 9.

AT THE request of the German Embassy, Dr. Rosenberg, one of the Nazi 'Big Five,' was to-day received by the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, and the Minister of War, Lord Hailsham.

Dr. Rosenberg was sent to explain the Nazi policy on current affairs. It is learned that he discussed with the British Ministers the economic and military position of Germany, and it is believed that he also touched upon the situation at the Disarmament Conference.

Dr. Rosenberg also had an interview with Mr. Norman Davis, the United States special envoy who is now in London. The hope that Germany would modify her policy and enable progress to be made at Geneva is understood to have been expressed by Mr. Norman Davis.

He emphasised the American view that an atmosphere of goodwill at the Disarmament Conference is absolutely essential for the success of the Economic Conference. He also made it clear that America is very opposed to the re-armament of any nation.

GANDHI'S CONDITION CAUSES ALARM

FRIENDS CALLED TO HIS POONA RESIDENCE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

POONA, May 9.

FRIENDS of Mahatma Gandhi were hastily summoned to the residence of Lady Thackersey at Poona to-day by the well-known Bombay physician, Dr. Deshmukh.

Dr. Deshmukh is very seriously concerned about the health of the Congress leader and takes a very serious view of his conditin.

Although Gandhi has been fasting for little more than twenty-four hours, he is already showing signs of nausea and is feeling the pangs of hunger very acutely.

Restless Night.

Gandhi spent a very restless night, securing only a few hours of broken sleep. He was attended by a male nurse.

Mrs. Naidu and Lady Thackersey were incessantly around him and his son, Devadas and friends are within call.

Meanwhile, the Government of India have authorised the issue of a statement from Simla declaring that the release of Mr. Gandhi does not indicate any change in the general policy of the Government regarding the release of civil disobedience prisoner.

Report Denied.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, May 9.

It is officially stated that there is no truth in the report sent to India from London that the Cabinet will consider to-morrow Mr. Gandhi's appeal to suspend the Ordinances and to release the political prisoners.

PRINCE WILHELM'S WEDDING

POSTPONED TILL JUNE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

BERLIN, May 9.

THE WEDDING of Prince Wilhelm of Prussia to Miss Dorothea von Salviati, fixed for Tuesday next, has suddenly been postponed until June, no explanation being given.

When the betrothal was announced, the ex-Kaiser was furious and Prime Wilhelm condemned for having usurped the rule of the House of Hohenzollern and become betrothed beneath his class. Despite the opposition, however, the banns of marriage were published last month.

RUBBER BILL

RECEIVES SECOND READING

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, May 9.

THE House of Lords to-night passed the second reading of the Rubber Contribution Bill, which provides for contributions by rubber manufacturers in the United Kingdom to the Research Association of the British Rubber Manufacturers.

Lord Irwin, who introduced the Bill, said that £15,000 would be required, but it was estimated that the contribution would not exceed 1/45th of a penny for each pound of rubber.

The Government grant, he added, would be discontinued.

The Research Association will have to be closed down if the Bill is not passed, and the measure is supported by many important organisations despite opposition by a number of firms.

EQUALISATION ACCOUNT BILL

COMMONS PASSES ITS SECOND READING

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, May 9.

BY 238 votes to 41, the House of Commons to-day passed the second reading of the Exchange Equalisation Account Bill.

The measure provides for an increase in the Exchange Equalisation Account from £150,000,000 to £350,000,000, and it has been introduced primarily to prevent undue fluctuation in sterling exchange quotations.

U.S FINANCE CORPN. INQUIRY

Investigation Ordered by Senate

LOANS BY GOVERNMENT AGENCY

WASHINGTON, May 4.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation was to-day placed in the class of financial institutions that should be investigated. The Senate Banking and Currency Committee which is investigating security markets and some of the country's leading banks voted to go fully into the conduct of the Government's great loan agency.

The action of the committee was evidence that the minority group in Congress that has been fighting for such an investigation for months had won its point.

Mr. Hamilton Fish, Representative, of New York, has repeatedly alleged that the Corporation has financed banking institutions when the directors knew that the institutions were about to go into bankruptcy. He has also stated that, in cases of both banks and railroads, the loans were not used to strengthen the corporations' financial standings but to repay loans to banks which were pressing for payment and which needed no help.

No detailed report of the Corportation's business has been made to Congress although the loans have been listed.

$2,083,750,000 Lent.

When it ordered the investigation to-day, the Senate Committee had in its possession a report of a House of Representatives Committee showing that the Corporation, from its formation in February, 1932, had made totalling $2,083,750,000 and had been repaid $407,366,772. Many of the loans, according to the House report, were made in vain attempts to remedy financial difficulties. These loans have caused such widespread and bitter comment that the Senate Committee decided that the public was entitled to know everything that had been done.

Banks were lent $1,013,020,640, of which $207,242,966 was repaid; (Continued on previous column) railroads, $326,592,115, of which $20,175,985 was repaid; insurance companies, $62,457,217, of which $11,474,181 was repaid, and states for relief, $186,275,745, none of which was repaid.

Other advances included 1932 crop loans, $64,204,503; 1933 crop loans, $1,741,118; to Secretary of Treasury for the purchase of stock in home loan banks, $29,920,000; self-liquidating projects $12,682,000; and regional agricultural credit corporations, $79,851,330. A part of these have been repaid.

EDITOR OF HARBIN HERALD

ORDERED TO LEAVE MANCHUKUO

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Harbin, May 10.

Calling on the British Consul-General a Manchukuo representative demanded that Mr. Simpson, editor of the Harbin Herald, leave Manchukuo territory by May 16, owing to the continuance of his anti-Manchukuo policy despite repeated warnings.

The Harbin Herald offices have been forcibly closed.

Mr. Simpson is a brother of the late Mr. Lenox Simpson.

M. VOROBIEFF ARRESTED

BY MANCHUKUO OFFICIALS

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

HARBIN, May 10.

AN extraordinary incident, which may re-arouse tension in the Soviet-Manchukuo dispute over the Chinese Eastern Railway, occurred at Suifenho yesterday, when M. Vorobieff was arrested.

M. Vorobieff is the chief of the Soviet Customs Administration in the Suifenho area. He was returning to Russia in accordance with the agreement for the removal of the customs station from Suifenho to Russian territory when he was seized by Manchukuo frontier guards.

It is understood that the allegation against him is that his baggage contained many suspicious documents.

The Manchukuo frontier guards allege that when his baggage was being searched, M. Vorobieff snatched up, chewed and swallowed an important document which he did not wish to fall into their hands.

M. Vorobieff was then taken into custody.

Other Soviet Customs officials who were returning to Russia were permitted to proceed without hindrance.

LONDON-SHANGHAI AIR-SERVICE

QUITE POSSIBLE IN NEAR FUTURE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

London, May 10.

THE question of extending the projected British air-service from Singapore to Shanghai in view of the air-services now running from Shanghai to the Upper Yangtsze and other parts of China is under consideration, said the Under Air Secretary in the Commons in reply to Mr. Nunn. He added that such a possibility had been brought a step nearer by the new Karachi-Singapore Service which will shortly be inaugurated.

NEW COMMISSIONER FOR SINKIANG

TAKES UP POST AFTER CONSULTATION WITH CHIANG

[KUO MIN NEWS AGENCY]

Nanking, April 30.—General Huang Mu Sung, the newly appointed Pacification Commissioner for Sinkiang, left for Nanchang yesterday by air to consult General Chiang Kai Shek, President of the Military Affairs Commission, regarding his mission.

After a stay of two or three days at Nanchang, General Huang will proceed to Shanghai, whence he will embark for Vladivostok. From Vladivostok, he will proceed to Sinkiang via Siberia.

It is understood that definite measures for the liquidation of the Mohammeden trouble have been decided upon by the Government and will be carried out by General Huang following his arrival in Sinkiang. In order to effect a fundamental solution of the situation, the Government is also sending special military, educational, economic and industrial experts to Sinkiang to introduce reforms in the light of the prevailing conditions.

JAPANESE REACH CHANGLI

CHINESE CONCENTRATING ON WEST OF RIVER BANK

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

PEIPING, May 10.

FOLLOWING in the wake of the rapid Chinese withdrawal, the Japanese advance guards reached Changli yesterday evening, according to the latest reports from the Luan region.

Shortly afterwards a Japanese armoured train arrived at Houfengtai, but was unable to proceed further owing to the destruction of the railway bridge.

Large bodies of Chinese troops are now concentrating on the west bank of the river, and Chinese forces are evacuating Lulung and Funing.

Chinese reports allege that Japanese planes bombed Lulung, Chienan and other places inflicting heavy casualties.

JAPANESE HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR FRESH HOSTILITIES

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

PEIPING, May 9.

"WITHOUT any provocation whatsoever the Japanese military authorities have resumed hostilities. They are bent on aggravating the situation, and should assume full responsibility" declared General Ho Ying Ching in the course of an interview granted to Reuter to-night.

SERIOUS FIGHTING IN PROGRESS AT CHIENAN

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

PEIPING, May 9.

CHINESE reports state that since Monday morning very serious fighting has been going on at Chienan. The Chinese troops are still holding the City and are resisting the Japanese advance.

SQUABBLE OVER C.E.R.

MEMORANDUM PRESENTED TO M. LITVINOFF

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Moscow, May 10.

DR. Yen, yesterday presented a memorandum to M. Litvinoff stating that the only people possessing legal rights and interests in the C.E.R. are the Chinese Republic and the Soviet and China will not recognise any new arrangement concerning the C.E.R. made by other parties which would be a violation of the 1924 Treaties

RUMOUR CONCERNING CHEN MIN SHU.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

NANKING, May 10.

MR. WANG CHENG WEI last night denied the report, which was in circulation, that General Chen Min Shu, former Minister of Communications who has just returned from abroad and who is at present visiting Canton, will be appointed as Chairman of the Kwangtung Provincial Government, adding that General Chen will shortly come to Nanking.

PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENTS

NO DECISION REGARDING REORGANISATION.

[KUO MIN NEWS AGENCY]

Nanking, May 3.—In connection with the reported intention of the Government to reorganize the provincial governments of Kiangsu, Honan, Fukien and Kansu, Mr. Wang Ching Wei, President of the Executive Yuan, in an interview yesterday, declared that no definite decision had as yet been reached concerning the matter.

He also intimated that since the return of General Chiang Kai Shek to Kiangsi, the bandit-suppression campaign in that province had been making phenomenal progress. He said that after the necessary military dispositions have been completed, General Chiang will come to Nanking en route to the North.

Mr. Henry H. Wu, chief secretary to Mr. V. C. Chang, Chinese Minister to Finland, left for the United States in the Dollar s.s. the party visiting the Chicago President Coolidge as a member of World Fair. Mr. Wu makes this trip on his own resources, and will make a tour of Europe to investigate political and industrial conditions there after the exposition is over. His trip abroad will probably last two or three years.

RELICS OF THE STONE AGE

IMPORTANT DISCOVERIES AT KAIFENG

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

KAIFENG, April 29.

VALUABLE articles of archaeological interest have been discovered in the hills near Yuanwu district, west of Kaifeng. The finds include stone axes and similar implements of the stone age besides pottery of the Sung Dynasty (960 to 1276 A.D.)

It is stated that the relics were found at several places. Excavations are still proceeding and more are expected to be unearthed. In view of the importance of the discovery, the curator of the Kaifeng Museum has left for Yuanwu to conduct a personal inspection.

HUPEH REHABILITATION LOAN

PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT EMBARRASSED

[KUO MIN NEWS AGENCY]

HANKOW, April 30.

PART of the proceeds of a Hupeh Provincial Rehabitation Loan is to be employed for road-construction in the province. Instructions to this effect have been received from General Chiang Kai Shek, Commander-in-Chief of the Honan-Hupeh-Anhwei Bandit-suppression Forces.

According to the road-building programme for the seven central provinces drafted at the Highway Conference here last year, the first stage of road construction for Hupeh involves an expenditure of $2,300,000. Although the National Economic Council guarantees 40 per cent. of this sum, or nearly one million dollars, provided the Provincial Government, furnish the balance. The latter has found much difficulty in raising its quota in view of the present financial stringency.

NAZIS MOVE AGAINST IDEA OF FREE TRADE

Berlin, May 2.

Beginning a nationwide campaign against free trade organizations, Nazi storm troops to-day occupied the national headquarters of the free traders and metal workers' union.

National Socialist leaders said all union leaders would be arrested and the unions made national instead of international in their scope. The Union has 5,500,000 listed members.

MID-ATLANTIC AIRPORT

Steamer Transformed into Landing-place

BERLIN, May 3.

The Westfalen, a German vessel of 5,134 tons formerly used as a liner, is to be anchored in the south Atlantic between South America and Africa, as a landing-place for German aeroplanes to South America.

The Westfalen, which left Cuxhaven for her destination to-day, will be a complete floating airport with equipment for re-fuelling and repairs.

The ship has a canvas landing stage upon which aeroplanes may taxi while take-offs will be made by means of a catapult.—Reuter.

Weekly Service.

The Westfalen, which was formerly a North German Lloyd steamer, has been chartered by the German Lufthansa and her destination will probably lie between British Gambia and the South American coast. She will have a crew of forty men.

With this new floating airport in service, it is hoped (says Trans-Ocean) to establish regular weekly mail service which will bring Rio de Janeiro within four days and Buenos Aires within five days of Berlin. Land planes will be used between Berlin nand Cadiz and seaplanes from Cadiz over the Canary Islands to British Gambia. From there, large trans-ocean planes will be used in the new service.

SINGAPORE ROTARY CLUB

ASIATIC BRANCH OF INTERNATIONAL

SINGAPORE, May 4.

A reference to the institution, in the near future, of an Asiatic branch of the Rotary International was made at yesterday's business meeting of the Singapore Rotary Club.

Mr. Douglas Howland, from the Calgary club, Western Canada, who is to be the secretary in charge of the new office, was a guest at the meeting, and made a brief speech to the members. He said Rotary aimed at bringing about the better understanding between nations which was needed in the world to-day.

"The need of Rotary is as evident to-day as it was 28 years ago when it was first started," he said. "There must be a keener appreciation of different point of view, and the will to understand. It is not enough to be satisfied with tolerance. The world is in an unfortunate position at the present time, but I think it is getting better. It cries out for understanding and sympathy. That is what we mostly need. Science, by improving the methods of transport, is bringing nations close together. Rotary helps by bringing nations close in spirit."

HOME CRICKET RESULTS

WEST INDIANS BADLY BEATEN BY NORTHANTS

LARWOOD FORSAKES HIS LEG-THEORY: PAINE BOWLS WELL

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

London May 9.

A full programme of cricket matches were carried out over the week-end during the course of which several players distinguished themselves with either bat or ball.

Four individual centuries were recorded, Andy Sandham (Surrey) being the highest scorer were 169 not out. This player looked set for his double century when a rising ball hit him just above the heart and he was forced to retire.

The West Indians were again seen in action but their showing against Northants did not impress—they were beaten by an innings and sixty-two runs.

The scores of the different matches together with a short account of each will be found below:—

FOUR CENTURIES RECORDED

SUSSEX v. WARWICK

PAINE IN GOOD FORM.

Paine, the tall left-handed slow bowler, was in great form with the ball when his county visited Essex and thanks mainly to his efforts, Warwick were able to win by an innings and six runs.

Warwick batted first and totalled 295 runs. Essex replied with 94, Paine getting 5 for 27 and when they were forced to follow-on they only managed 195. Paine was again prominent for some good work with the ball, taking 6 wickets for 68 runs.

The scores were:—
Warwick, 1st inings 295
Essex, 1st innings 94
Paine, 5 for 27.
Essex, 2nd innings 195
Paine, 6 for 68.

M.C.C. v. YORKSHIRE

CHAMPIONS WIN.

This game took place at Lord's and resulted in a win for the Champion county by the comfortable margin of 148 runs.

When Yorkshire batted first, they found Ian Peebles in good form with the ball and were all out for 147 runs. The young Scot took 8 wickets for 71 runs.

Even worse fate was in store for M.C.C. when they went out to bat for Rhodes (5 for 34) bowled excellently and helped in no small degree to dismiss them for 127 runs.

To make up for their bad showing in the first innings, the champions hit up 248 for 8 (declared) in their second knock and when the M.C.C. went in for the second time, they were again forced to bow before the Yorkshire attack and were dismissed for 120 runs. This time bowling honours went to Macaulay who had 7 for 41.

The scores were:—
Yorkshire, 1st innings 147
Peebles, 8 for 71.
M.C.C., 1st innings 127
Rhodes, 5 for 34.
Yorkshire, 2nd innings (8 wickets, declared) 248
M.C.C., 2nd innings 120
Macaulay, 7 for 41.

WORCESTER v. SUSSEX

JOHN LANGRIDGE SHINES.

Playing their typical bright and enterprising cricket, Sussex beat Worcester by an innings and five runs when they visited the latter county.

Worcester had first lease of the wicket but this did not give them much advantage as they were dismissed for only 157 runs.

When Sussex occupied the wicket, the spectators were treated to some pleasantly free cricket and soon the county were able to declare at 337 for 9. John Langridge used the long handle to good effect, collecting eighty runs before being dismissed.

Going in for the second time Worcester showed only a slight improvement and were all out for 175 runs.

The scores were:—
Worcester, 1st innings 157
Sussex, 1st innings (9 wickets, declared) 337
Worcester, 2nd innings 175

NORTHANTS v. WEST INDIES

CLARK'S WONDERFUL BOWLING.

On what was described as a "tricky pitch" the West Indians went down ingloriously to Northamptonshire by an innings and two runs.

The county put up 288 when they elected to bat first and in reply to this the tourists could only muster 129, Clark getting 5 wickets for 32 runs. Forced to follow-on, they did even worse and 97 was the sum total of their efforts. Clark was again in capital form with the ball, his figures this time being 5 for 29.

The scores were:—
Northants, 1st innings 288
West Indies, 1st innings 129
Clark, 5 for 32.
West Indies, 2nd innings 97
Clark, 5 for 29.

OXFORD v. GLOUCESTER

CENTURIES FOR SINFIELD AND WALKER.

What at first promised to be a high-scoring game which would end in a draw turned out to be an easy win for Gloucester when they visited Oxford University.

The county had first innings and despite some good bowling by Barlow who took 6 wickets for 70 runs, they put up the respectable total of 379 runs of which Sinfield claimed 133. The undergraduates were not put off by the county's effort and went on to score 236 in reply. Walker batted well to collect 107, not out.

In their second knock Gloucester declared at 113 for the loss of 2 wickets and when the Dark Blues went in again they could only manage 132 as Goddard (6 for 55) was in irresistible form with the ball.

The scores were:—
Gloucester, 1st innings 379
Sinfield, 133.
Oxford, 1st innings 236
Walker, 107, not out.
Gloucester, 1st innings (2 wickets, declared) 113
Oxford, 2nd innings 132
Goddard, 6 for 55.

NOTTS v. GLAMORGAN

NO LEG-THEORY!

Harold Larwood, England's speed merchant who played havoc with the Australians in the recent Test matches "Down Under" with his leg-theory, did not adopt this method when he played for his county against Glamorgan. Nevertheless, he took 5 wickets for 91 runs but was not able to save his side from first innings defeat.

Notts batted first and with Clay taking 5 wickets for 48 runs, they mustered 117. Glamorgan replied with 125, San Staples getting half their wickets for 50 runs while Larwood took the remaining half for 91 runs.

Notts had scored 164 for 1 in their second effort when play ceased.

The scores were:—
Notts, 1st innings 117
Clay, 5 for 48.
Glamorgan, 1st innings 125
Staples, 5 for 50.
Larwood, 5 for 91.
Notts, 2nd innings (for 1 wicket) 164

SURREY v. HAMPSHIRE

SANDHAM HURT.

Andy Sandham treated the Oval crowd to some delightful batting when Surrey beat Hampshire in the first innings, but the game was marred by an accident to this player who was forced to retire when his total stood at 169. He was hit over the heart by a rising ball and has been advised to rest for a week.

Surrey batted first and thanks to Sandham's effort totalled 333 runs. Hampshire replied with 294, Brown distinguishing himself with a 150.

not out.

Surrey had put together 123 for 3 in their second knock when stumps were drawn.

The scores were:—
Surrey, 1st innings 333
Sandham, 169, not out.
Hampshire, 1st innings 294
Brown, 150, not out.
Surrey, 2nd innings (for 3 wickets) 123

RAIN AGAIN INTERFERS WITH MATCHES

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

WASHINGTON, May 8.

BAD weather continues to follow in the wake of the Major baseball league programmes, and today both schedules were ruined by rain.

No less than six games were affected, the following being postponed: National League, Chicago v. Brooklyn, Philadelphia v. Cincinnati, New York v. St. Louis, American League, Cleveland v. Boston, Chicago v. New York, Detroit v. Philadelphia.

A single match in both leagues was played, however, which saw Pittsburg blanked out by Boston, who replied with seven runs.

Washington Senators scored a good win over St. Louis, when they hit seven runs in reply to their opponents' five.

THE EMPIRE FAIR

Gratifying Response to Appeal

GENEROUS DONATIONS

The Empire Fair Committee has issued a circular to Exhibitors appealing for donations. The circular stated that when it was announced some months ago that no charge would be made for space in the Empire Fair, it was scarcely expected that the number of entries received would make necessary the erection of a temporary pavilion covering about 30,000 square feet of space. The overhead expenses will now be increased by about $3,000.

The Committee realised that some Exhibitors would be put to considerable expense in setting up their exhibits and would only ask for a small donation in such cases. A contribution from each Exhibitor, ranging from $25 to $250 according to the importance of the exhibit, would probably cover requirements.

Firms would doubtless realise that an Exhibition of this kind, if run on strictly commercial lines, would involve a substantial charge for space. Cost was only kept down because The Hong Kong and Shanghai Hotels, Ltd., had generously given the use of the Peninsula Hotel, the Hong Kong Government had voted a grant of $2,000, the newspapers have given free publicity and advertising space; while the very considerable work of organisation was being done voluntarily. The Committee believed that Exhibitors would be glad to share amongst themselves the remaining expenses.

Donations to Date.

There was an immediate and gratifying response to this appeal. Cheques have been coming in hourly ever since it was issued, and the following is a list of the donations to date:—

Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co., Ltd.	$250
Messrs. Shewan Tomes and Co.	250
Messrs. Reiss, Massey and Co., Ltd.	100
The H.K. Rope Manufacturing Co. Ltd.	100
Messrs. Davie, Boag and Co., Ltd.	50
Messrs. A. S. Watson and Co., Ltd.	50
The Advertising and Publicity Bureau, Ltd.	50
The Tsang Fook Piano Company	50
Messrs. Gande, Price and Co., Ltd.	50
The Britannia Aerated Water Factory	30
Ye Olde Printerie, Limited	25
Messrs. Alex. Rose and Co., (China) Ltd.	25
The Pharmacy	25
Messrs. Siemssen and Co.	25
The Anglo China Ore and Products Co.	25
The Kwan Yick Vacuum Bottle Factory	25
Chiu Kom To, Esq.,	10

The following donations have already been acknowledged in the Press: — The British-American Tobacco Co. (China) Ltd., $200; Messrs. Dodwell and Co., Ltd., $100; Messrs. Gilman and Co., Ltd., $100 and Messrs. Amritlal Ojha and Co., $25.

The total received to date is therefore $1,565.00.

YESTERDAY'S RAINFALL

The shower of rain yesterday afternoon helped to usher in a welcome change in the weather following the oppressive heat of Tuesday and yesterday morning.

Enquiries at the Observatory last night elicited the information that the total rainfall between 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. was .02 inch.

The total rainfall this year up to yesterday morning was 4.67 inches and is much below the average of 14.31 inches.

DAILY ROUTINE AT THE DOGS' HOME

AND SOME HINTS FOR YOUR OWN DOG IN HOT WEATHER

There is a certain institution in Kowloon which is doing very useful work, but because those connected with it have gone about their business in such a quiet manner, very few people realise how much good work is done for them. Another thing is that since those benefitting directly from their efforts are not able to sing the praises of their helpers, very little publicity has been given to these work. I refer, of course, to the Dogs' Home in Waterloo Road and "Mr. Fowler & Co." As is perhaps known to all, the Dogs' Home is run in conjunction with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

"What exactly is the work done by the people at the Dogs' Home," is a question not infrequently asked. I will try and answer it to the best of my ability and because I know that it is very good work, I hope this will have the effect of bringing in more members for the S.P.C.A. for support to such a deserving cause is always very welcome.

First of all, the Dogs' Home is not, as is popularly imagined, a place where all stray and 'naughty' dogs are imprisoned. As the name implies, it is a place where those of our dumb friends that are found homeless are kept and given good treatment. I know of cases when old dogs are kept in comfort for the rest of their days, as it were.

But to return to the question of the work done by those running the Home. Mr. Fowler is, of course, in charge, but he has a Chinese staff who see to the feeding and washing of the dogs, and also the cleaning out of the kennels and "run."

The dogs are bathed regularly and it is quite amusing to see them on "wash day." Little Japanese poodles may be seen basking in the sun next to a full-grown pointer, but perhaps the cheekiest members of the Home are the terriers who make more noise than all the others put together.

If one were to pay a visit to the Home any time between 3 o'clock and 4 o'clock any afternoon, he would see our dumb-friends in a great state of excitement. Some of them may even be fighting, but why all the excitement? The very simple reason is that the dogs are given their meal then but although there is always plenty to go round, dogs are not unlike little boys in one respect—they are never satisfied and are always asking for more!

Rations—Plenty of Water.

Only one meal is allowed a day but this is usually a very substantial one consisting of rice, meat and bones. Of water there is a very liberal allowance, and while on this subject it will not be out of place to remind dog-owners that during the hot weather, it is very necessary to see that friend dog is given a very generous ration of water. To be guilty of not allowing our dumb friends plenty to drink is nothing short of cruelty.

The dogs are kept in kennels which open out to an area enclosed by wire netting, and except at nights and during rainy weather, the dogs are more often in this open space than in the kennels. Only in cases where the dogs are unusually "fierce" they are chained, and when one sees a dog being bathed and then kept in a kennel, it means that a home has been found for the particular dog and his new master will be sending for him soon.

Mr. Fowler pays a visit to the Home every morning but in the afternoons he is always in his office attending to all the matters which though minor in detail, form a very important part of his work.

"Have You Got My Dog?"

Telephone calls are received practically every day with anxious voices asking "if you have got my dog in the Home." Sometimes people call up to ask if there are any dogs for sale or if the authorities are looking for a good home for any dog. Just any dog would do, so long it will behave itself and look after the house!

At present there are about twenty dogs in the home. One particularly nice looking fellow—I think he is a cross between a setter and a pointer—looked at me with rather wistful eyes, almost asking if I was looking for a doggie who could "shoot."

THEFT OF A CLOCK

ROBBERY AT COX'S PATH RESIDENCE

Before Mr. Wynne-Jones at Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, two Chinese youths were charged with stealing a clock from No. 2, Cox's Path the residence of Mr. J. S. Logan.

According to Sergt. Points, who prosecuted, the clock was stolen at about 2 p.m. on Saturday. Defendants were seen that afternoon loitering in Cox's Path by Mr. Logan himself. After the clock was found to be missing, a report was made to the Police, who recovered it in a pawnshop in Yaumati. Investigations by the Police led them to raid a house in Reclamation Street where defendants were arrested.

Second defendant had made a statement admitting the charge.

Mr. Wynne-Jones: A cautioned statement?

Sergeant Points: Yes, your Worship.

Mr. Wynne-Jones: What did he say?—He said, "I went up to No. 2 Cox's Path to find a European friend."

His Worship: I don't think that is an admission of guilt. Have you any other evidence beyond the fact that he was seen loitering there?—No, your Worship.

Then I am afraid you couldn't get him convicted on that.

The second defendant was accordingly discharged.

Sentence of six weeks was passed on the first defendant.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

TO BE OPENED SOON AT KIU KIANG

Latest information from Canton papers state that one of the elders named Chu Ying Ngai of the Kiu Kiang District has proposed that a public library should be established for public benefit.

As the result of the conference between the two villages, it was decided that it should be built at the junction of Ha Shai How and Wong Lam Heung, which is one of the most prosperous localities of the Kiu Kiang District.

It is understood that the opening ceremony will be held on 15th inst.

LADY CLEMENTI AT ST. ANDREW'S HOSPITAL

RENOVATIONS THROUGH PHILANTHROPISTS' GIFT

Singapore, May 4.

The annual general meeting of St. Andrew's Mission Hospital, held on the roof garden of the Hospital building yesterday, and presided over by the Bishop of Singapore, the Rt. Rev. B. C. Roberts, was made memorable by the unveiling of a tablet commemorating the gift to the hospital by Messrs. Aw Boon Haw and Aw Boon Par, of $18,000.

The ceremony was performed by Lady Clementi who after expressing her admiration for the generosity of the two well-known benefactors, drew a curtain which covered the marble tablet.

Lady Clementi said that the beautiful blue tiling of the walls of the hospital, which was one of the main improvements carried out as the result of the gift, greatly improved the appearance of the hospital and was most soothing to the ht.

The thanks of the building trustees to the donors of the gift were expressed by Mr. G. A. Potts.

BEER MAKING U.S. SOBER

New York, April 18.

Reports from all parts of the United States show that the first legal "wet" week has been marked everywhere by a decrease in drunkenness and disorder despite the heavy demand for beer.

A hundred thousand barrels of "3.2" have been distributed in Chicago, but arrests for drunkenness there fell by 66 per cent. as compared with the number the previous week.

In Philadelphia, there were only 12 arrests for drunkenness in the last week-end as compared 96 during the last week-end of the "dry" régime.

THE WEATHER IN 1932

Drought and No Typhoons

REPORT FROM OBSERVATORY HILL

The report of the Director of the Royal Observatory, for the year 1932, states that the principal features of the weather in 1932 were:—

(a) A drought lasting from the beginning of the year until 3rd February.

(b) The absence of typhoons seriously affecting the Colony.

No measurable amount of rain fell between 28th December, 1931, and 3rd February, 1932, inclusive. The rainfall in October and November was also below normal. In spite of these dry periods, the total rainfall for the whole year was slightly above normal, owing to heavy rainfall in June and July.

Typhoons.

The tracks of 21 typhoons which occurred in the Far East during the year 1932 are given in the Monthly Meteorological Bulletin for December. The only typhoons producing winds of gale force in Hong Kong were those of 21st July and 17th September. The first, passing about 150 miles to the south of Gap Rock, produced a gust velocity at the Observatory of 67 m.p.h. from E. at 21h. 19m. on 21st July. The second, passing on an almost identical track, produced a gust velocity at the Observatory of 79 m.p.h. from E.N.E. at 8h. 00m. on 17th September.

In the following table the monthly rainfall at the Observatory is compared with other records in the Colony.

Month.	Observatory (Kowloon) inches	Botanical Garden (Hong Kong) inches.	Fanling inches.
January	0.000	0.01	0.00
February	2.535	2.75	2.96
March	2.200	1.83	0.64
April	3.700	3.60	3.42
May	2.510	2.22	2.30
June	25.290	22.55	14.63
July	25.710	27.58	19.86

Time Ball Fails Only Once.

The timeball is dropped at 10h. a.m. on Sundays and public holidays, 10h. a.m. and 1h. p.m. on Saturdays, and 10h. a.m. and 4h. p.m. on other days. Time signals are given from 8h.55 to 9h. p.m. each night by means of lights which are extinguished every second, except for periods marking the minutes and half minutes.

The timeball was dropped successfully 659 times. There was one failure, on 22nd April at 10h. a.m., when it fell 35 seconds early owing to an electrical fault. The ball was not raised on 8th April at 10h. a.m., owing to faults on the external line, and on 17th September at 10h. a.m. and 4h. p.m. owing to a typhoon gale.

MARTIAL LAW

ENFORCED IN SAM SHUI DISTRICT

Martial Law has been proclaimed in the South West Market of the Sam Shui District.

On the night of last Tuesday, the situation seemed to be more serious. Large bodies of troops occupied the different street-corners resulting in the stoppage of all traffic.

It is reported that enforcement of Martial Law was due to the fears of a surprise attack by armed robbers.

Martial Law is still in force, and as soon as the report declares, the country is most peaceful.

DEFENCE OF DANCING ACADEMIES

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

SIR,—In justice to the Dancing Academy Proprietor in Hankow Road, Kowloon, I wish to challenge the statement that his place keeps open until the hour of 1 a.m.

I live in an adjoining flat and work until considerably later than midnight, so that it is not a case of being kept awake to hear what time the music ceases.

I have heard worse music from the flats of some of my neighbours and the dance music never disturbs my concentration.

There are flats in a quieter quarter of Kowloon. Let him move to one of those, not forgetting that the shops were built before he tenanted his flat.—Yours, etc.,

HANKOW ROAD RESIDENT.

May 9, 1933.

THE APOSTLES IN LOUNGE SUITS

UP TO DATE "LAST SUPPER" FOR THE ACADEMY

Mr. Mark Symons, whose Royal Academy paintings of religious subjects have created considerable comment during the past few years owing to the fact that the figures surrounding Christ have all been dressed in modern garb, has prepared a similar subject which he is submitting the Academy this year.

The title of the picture is "The Last Supper." It depicts the Saviour seated at a table on which is a modern repast, surrounded by the Twelve Apostles in up-to-date lounge suits, collars and ties.

The Apostles are really portraits of people whom Mr. Symons has met, and include Mr. H. Yates, art master of Reading University, Dr. Tozer, medical officer of Peppard Sanatorium, near Reading, and a number of students.

Steel-Helmeted Soldier.

In the foreground are faces representing evil, with a cross raised among them. There is also a steel-helmeted soldier and a number of bayonets are also visible. Among the faces can be read the words: "We will not have this man to rule over us."

Judas is seen being offered silver; he has a halter round his neck, with which he is being dragged from the table.

Mr. Symons said: "The picture is symbolic of the war between Christ and anti-Christ. I have endeavoured to bring "The Last Supper" up to date.

"No one would expect a fisherman to attend supper in his working clothes, while the tax-gatherer would certainly be well dressed. As in all my other paintings of this nature, I have depicted people I have met in every-day life.

"For the character of Judas I took no one in particular. I wanted a bald head, so I looked in the mirror and copied the top of my own. The rest of this figure is quite imaginary."

RUGGER

"ALL BLACKS" TO TOUR FRANCE

The famous Maori Rugby football team, the All Blacks, are anxious to meet France again.

Mr. Parata, president of the Rugby Federation controlling the All Blacks, has written to the French Rugby Federation from Auckland: "We are awaiting with anxiety the result of your negotiations with the British Rugby Unions for we hope that next season an All Black team on tour will be able to play again in Paris, a city of which we have such happy memories."

It is no secret that the French Rugby Federation heartily reciprocate the wish expressed by Mr. Parata.

EMPLOYMENT FOR U.S. WORKERS

MILLION TO BENEFIT BY MIDSUMMER

WASHINGTON, May 3.

President Roosevelt was assured to-day that the thousands of men he has recruited for work on Government projects will begin work before June 1 and, it is estimated that before midsummer more than 1,000,000 workers will benefit from the programme.

The Senate, by a vote of 63 to 20, adopted the Muscle Shoals or Tennessee Valley improvement bill which is the nucleus of the unemployment relief programme. The bill was previously adopted by the House of Representatives. After a few minor differences are ironed out, the bill will go to the President.

While the immediate programme calls for recruiting of only 250,000 workmen for the Tennessee and other re-forestation projects, the return of these men to some kind of work will stimulate employment and production in many lines. Lumber must be produced for the encampments, tools, machinery any clothing must be supplied, railroads must haul the supplies.

The Muscle Shoals bill provides for completing the gigantic power development that was begun during the Word War to produce nitrates for explosives. Additional power plants will be built, the channels of the Tennessee River will be widened and deepened and the marginal lands will be re-forested.

Another important part of the programme which is authorised under the bill is the work for flood control.

DOCTOR, BOTANIST AS FILM EXPERTS

TO SETTLE POINTS IN PAYMENT DEFERRED

How does a man die of cyanide poisoning?

What clues would he leave?

What kind of plants grow in English backyards?

Does an Englishman put ice in his highballs?

These are a few of the questions which caused the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio to employ a doctor, a detective, a botanist and even a former English barman to work out authentic details for their latest mystery thriller, "Payment Deferred," which will be shown at the Queen's Theatre from Thursday.

"Payment Deferred" is a thriller based on a "perfect crime" which is never detected. The plot takes an ironical twist, however, when the murderer, who escapes conviction for his real crime, is punished for a crime of which he is innocent but of which he is found guilty because of circumstantial evidence.

Repeats Celebrated Role.

Charles Laughton, who appeared as the murderer in both the London and New York stage versions of the drama, repeats his celebrated role in the screen version. Maureen O'Sullivan has the romantic lead and important roles are filled by Dorothy Peterson as the murderer's wife, Verree Teasdale as an unscrupulous French milliner, and Ray Milland as the rich nephew who brings about the whole tragedy.

English plants were transplanted in an English backyard at the studios for one scene. Furniture, pictures, chinaware and kitchen utensils in an English home were copied in every detail for sets. One picture which Laughton held to be especially convincing was presented to the actor after the production was finished.

Lothar Mendes, who directed "Payment Deferred," made use of unusual camera angles to carry out the suspense. The camera follows the characters through doors, around corners and even into the backyard, where the body of the murdered victim is hidden.

THE EXCHANGE MARKET

MESSRS. ROZA BROS.. REPORT

Messrs. Roza Bros. have forwarded us the following exchange market report for yesterday:—

Silver prices were substantially lower yesterday to the extent of 9/16 for Ready and ½ for Forward. The drop was attributed to the Continent having sold. America, China and speculators bought at the decline. The tone at the close was steady. In America the rate was lower at 39⅜ for Spot.

New York advices reported the opening rate at 3.91 and the closing rate at 3.93. The market was erratic

With the exception of the Shanghai Dollar rate which was put up to 109½ and the Bangkok rate which was put up to 138¼, other rates were lowered.

Market.

Uncertain, quiet.

Sterling.

Business was done shortly after the opening at 1/4.17/32 for near delivery followed later by a small business at 1/4.9/16 second half May. The market closed with sellers at 1/4½ May, 1/4.17/32 June and probably 1/4.9/16 July, buyers at 1/4.9/16 May-June and 1/4.19/32 July.

Gold Dollars.

Business was done during the course of the morning at 27⅛ for cash. The market closed with sellers at 27.1/16 May, 27.3/16 June and 27.5/16 July, buyers probably at 27⅛ for cash, 27¼ June and 27.7/16 July.

Yen.

Merchants were quoted at 111½ for near delivery.

Shanghai Dollars.

Were quoted at 100½ for near delivery.

Shanghai.

Steady.—Sellers were indicated at 1/3 for near, buyers probably at 1/3.1/16 May.

Asia Lands, Limited, has received the following report from their New York correspondents, E. A. Pierce & Co. The market confirmed yesterday's impression specifically that there is no great amount of liquidation taking place. Individual stocks have been tested and we think they have shown a relatively strong position. We would buy again on another day's firmness. Wheat: Lower cables, weakness in Winnipeg and increased Kansas estimates caused the price to decline. Cotton: Lower sterling quotations induced considerable selling from domestic and foreign sources but the market was well supported, Silver Commission House Liquidation was heavy. Banks are also selling. The immediate trend would seem to follow inversely the action of the Dollar and Foreign Exchange until the pending constructive measures become effective.

Business Done: 2,240,000 shares.

THE DOLLAR

Influence on World Cotton Trade

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, April 25.

Discussions on the Manchester Royal Exchange yesterday suggested that all the possible effects on the cotton trade of the United States' embargo on gold exports cannot easily be discerned, and that no opinion as to the probable effects can have much value until more is known about President Roosevelt's currency plans. Meanwhile, quotations of American and other cotton futures at Liverpool, and quotations at Alexandria and Bombay still show little change as compared with Tuesday. Wednesday's movements at Liverpool suggested an inclination to discount a heavier fall in the dollar than actually took place during that day's session, and later events justified this view of the probabilities. There has been a tendency to keep dealings in futures within narrow limits as a result of the fluctuations in the exchange rate, and these fluctuations, coupled with the firmness of basis in the United States, have made it difficult to arrange business in American cotton for shipment to this country. Though cotton prices at Liverpool have remained steady, uncertainty as to the future trend has made yarn and cloth buyers unwilling to operate, while the difficulties of the Manchester market have been increased because of the dependence on the dollar of many of the South American currencies, and because of doubts as to how far the rise in silver is likely to be maintained.

Will America Benefit?

The outlook is obscure. Will the devaluation of the dollar make the United States another formidable competitor in the world's markets for cotton goods? Will Japan's competitive position be affected by the addition of the United States to the list of countries which export raw cotton on the basis of a depreciated currency? These are two of the questions to which traders are trying to find some sort of an answer, and they are perhaps even more important than the question as to the net effect on Liverpool cotton prices of the developments in the United States. Exchange dumping duties, as well as tariffs, quotas, and restrictions on remittances, will no doubt affect the United States as much as other countries which are trying to increase their exports, and one result of the gold export embargo may be to make the United States more anxious to see a reduction of trade barriers throughout the world. Japan's gains and losses from the developments in the United States will depend partly on the course of yen prices for American cotton and on the extent to which exchange for outstanding contracts for American cotton has already been covered; the losses might be considerable if the devaluation of the dollar became the signal for an extension of exchange dumping duties in other countries

The Gold Embargo.

It is important to notice that the gold export embargo and the belief that inflation will be resorted to have not been the only causes of the advance in cotton prices in the United States. In his usual weekly cabled report from New York to the Manchester Guardian Commercial, Mr. G. W. Fooshe refers to "a desire on the part of speculators and investors to convert cash into major commodities, including cotton." He adds, however, that buying has also been stimulated by the larger demand for actual cotton and for cotton goods, the delay in the start of the new crop, the improvement in general business, and the belief that the Washington Conference will put international trade on a more satisfactory basis.

JAPANESE BUSINESS IN 1932.

Figures showing the profits of 1,250 Japanese business concerns which report semi-annually have been compiled for the latter half of 1932 by the Mitsui Gomei Kaisha. They show that 1,097 institutions had profits and that only 171 had losses. The profits totalled 288,800,000 yen and the losses only 18,000,000 yen, so that the net profit of all the companies combined was 270,600,000 yen, or 7.1 per cent. on total paid capitalisation of 7,574,000,000 yen.

JAPAN TO REGAIN CHINA MARKET?

FEAR OF INDIAN BOYCOTT.

In an interview with Press representatives on his recent visit to Kobe, Mr. Ariyoshi, the Japanese Minister to China, said that conditions in China forbid the opening of direct negotiations between Japan and China at the present moment. There is no alternative for Japan, but to watch development.

Asked what will become of China, the Minister pleaded inability to reply. China is split into many rival camps, such as the Canton faction, the Communist forces, the old North-Eastern clique, and many groups led by military men of motley complexion. The task of General Chiang Kai Shek is in such circumstances, very exacting. Anyhow, it is most desirable that the conditions in China should quickly, for the threatened boycott of Japanese goods by India makes Japan's recovery of the Chinese market very urgent. Mr. Ariyoshi said that he will do his best to correct China's present attitude towards Manchukuo.

SAIGON-MARSEILLES AIR MAIL SERVICE

Letters (Ordinary and registered but not insured), Postcards, and "Autres objets" (Commercial papers, Printed papers and Samples) will be accepted for transmission by this Service. Rates and conditions are shewn in the schedules exhibited at the G.P.O. and Kowloon Office.
THE AIR MAIL SERVICE from SAIGON to EUROPE is weekly. The HONG KONG-SAIGON connection will be maintained by the regular fortnightly sailing of the FRENCH mail steamers and on alternate weeks by any available steamers that can make the connection at SAIGON.
Letters for this route should be marked "Saigon-Marseilles Air Mail Service" and handed in at the G.P.O. or Kowloon Post Office.

Letters and postcards for Europe and South America are forwarded "via Siberia" if so superscribed.
